Papermaking Through Eighteen Centuries Dard Hunter,1930 Papermaking Through Eighteen Centuries Dard Hunter,1995 Paper-Making Through Eighteen Centuries Dard Hunter,1993-03-01 Bonded Leather binding Harold Innis's History of Communications William J. Buxton,Michael R. Cheney,Paul Heyer,2014-12-18 For decades media historians have heard of Harold Innis's unpublished manuscript exploring the history of communications but very few have had an opportunity to see it. In this volume editors and Innis scholars William J. Buxton, Michael R. Cheney and Paul Heyer make widely accessible for the first time three core chapters from the legendary Innis manuscript. Here Innis 1894-1952 examines the development of paper and printing from antiquity in Asia through to 16th century Europe. He demonstrates how the paper printing nexus intersected with a broad range of other phenomena including administrative structures, geopolitics, militarism, public opinion, aesthetics, cultural diffusion, religion, education, reception, production processes, technology, labor relations and commerce as well as the lives of visionary figures. Buxton, Cheney and Heyer knit the chapters into a cohesive narrative and help readers navigate Innis's observations by summarizing the heavily detailed factual material that peppered the unpublished manuscript. They provide further context for Innis's arguments by adding annotations, references and pertinent citations to his other writings. The end result is both a testament to Innis's status as a canonical figure in the study of communication and a surprisingly relevant contribution to how we might think about the current sea change in all aspects of social, cultural, political and economic life stemming from the global shift to digital communication. The New

Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature: Volume 1, 600-1660 George Watson, Ian Roy Willison, 1974-08-29 More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 1 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature. The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis, articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition. The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957 to add materials of the following decade to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available and to reshape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries. Science and Civilisation in China, Part 1, Paper and Printing Joseph Needham, Tsien Tsuen-Hsien, 1985-07-11 Part one of the fifth volume of Joseph Needham's great enterprise is written by one of the project's collaborators Professor Tsien Tsuen-Hsien working in regular consultation with Dr Needham has written the most comprehensive account of every aspect of paper and printing in China to be published in the West. From a close study of the vast mass of source material Professor Tsien brings order and illumination to an area of technology which has been of profound importance in the spread of civilisation. The main body of the book is a detailed study of the invention, technology and aesthetic development of printing in China. From the growth and ultimate refinements of early woodcut printing to the spread of printing from movable type and the development of book binding Professor Tsien carries the story
