Tennessee Teacher , 1962 Here in Spain Chapman Mortimer, 1955 This is neither a guide book nor a travel book It is rather an account of one man s experiences during two years in Spain a country with such a hold on the imagination of so many people that more nonsense is written about it than about any other in Europe The true reasons for Spain s fascination are however apparent enough in this book The author insists that he has invented nothing and writes only about what he knows and clearly it is a country where invention is unnecessary Every new moon and every full moon of every year are spectacles that are not only visible but compelling but in Spain there is not only moonlight not only the Bulls or the spectacle or even the good manners of the Spanish There is something else and obviously it is this something else that the author is in search of even if he himself claims to be looking all over the east coast from Barcelona to Valencia for a little family circus or merely for a bath Dust jacket Braille Book Review ,1996 Leathermouth's Luck Carlton Dawe,1934 Braille Books Library of Congress.
