Louis Macneice And His Influence:

Louis MacNeice and His Influence Kathleen Devine, Alan J. Peacock, 1998 This collection of essays by leading experts on MacNeice's work explore the range and depth of his achievement including his influence on Michael Longley, Derek Mahon, Seamus Heaney and Paul Muldoon. Louis MacNeice and His Influence on Contemporary Northern Irish Poetry David Coates, 2019 Modernism at the Microphone Melissa Dinsman, 2015-09-24 As the Second World War raged throughout Europe modernist writers often became crucial voices in the propaganda efforts of both sides. Modernism at the Microphone Radio Propaganda and Literary Aesthetics During World War II is a comprehensive study of the role modernist writers' radio works played in the propaganda war and the relationship between modernist literary aesthetics and propaganda. Drawing on new archival research the book covers the broadcast work of such key figures as George Orwell, Orson Welles, Dorothy L. Sayers, Louis MacNeice, Mulk Raj Anand, T. S. Eliot, and P. G. Wodehouse. In addition to the work of Anglo-American modernists, Melissa Dinsman also explores the radio work of exiled German writers such as Thomas Mann as well as Ezra Pound's notorious pro-fascist broadcasts. In this way the book reveals modernism's engagement with new technologies that opened up transnational boundaries under the pressures of war. Cultural Translation and Postcolonial Poetry A. Bery, 2007-11-21 This book uses the framework of cultural translation to explore the work of six significant modern writers from Ireland, India, Australia, and the Caribbean. Written in an accessible and approachable style, it will be of interest not only to specialists in postcolonial literatures but also readers of modern and contemporary poetry more generally. A Companion to Twentieth-Century Poetry Neil Roberts, 2003-02-14 In the twentieth century more people spoke English and more people wrote poetry than in the whole of previous history and this Companion strives to make sense of this crowded poetical era. The original contributions by leading international scholars and practising poets were written as the contributors adjusted to the idea that the possibilities of twentieth-century poetry were exhausted and finite. However, the volume also looks forward to the poetry and readings that the new century will bring. The Companion embraces the extraordinary development of poetry over the century in twenty English-speaking countries, a century which began with a bipolar transatlantic connection in modernism and ended with the decentred heterogeneity of postcolonialism. Representation of the canonical and the marginal is therefore balanced, including the full integration of women poets and feminist approaches and the in-depth treatment of postcolonial poets from various national traditions. Discussion of context, intertextualities, and formal approaches illustrates the increasing self-consciousness and self-reflexivity of the period whilst a Readings section offers new readings of key selected texts. The volume as a whole offers critical and contextual coverage of the full range of English-language poetry in the last century. The Ulster Renaissance Heather Clark, 2006-04-06 This is the first full-length study of the extraordinary period of intense poetic activity in Belfast known as the Ulster Renaissance, a time when young Northern Irish poets such as Seamus Heaney, Derek Mahon, Michael Longley, James Simmons, and Paul Muldoon began.

crafting their art and tuning their voices through each other Drawing extensively upon new archival material as well as personal interviews and correspondence The Ulster Renaissance argues that these poets friendships and rivalries were crucial to their autonomous artistic development The book also sheds new light on the idea of a collaborative Belfast coterie often treated derisively by critics and shows that the poets frequently engaged in efforts to promote a cohesive Northern literary community distinct from that which existed in London and Dublin It suggests that it was this cohesion at turns inclusive and confining which ultimately challenged the Belfast poets to find their individual voices

Louis MacNeice

Peter McDonald,1991 Since his death in 1963 Louis MacNeice s critical standing has risen steadily This new study addresses the contexts of MacNeice s writings which are of greatest relevance to his place in modern poetry his problematic and still controversial relationship with Ireland and his significance for the understanding of the largely English thirties generation with which he is often identified The influence of these contexts upon the nature of MacNeice s poetic development is studied in detail here together with the important questions of his relation to Yeats and Modernism The book examines MacNeice s conception of parable as key imaginative response to these influences and it includes the first study of the poet s revealing and little known early writings Peter McDonald demonstrates that MacNeice is a central figure in modern Irish and British poetry of greater substantial complexity than is often thought and suggests that his through his work we should see its contexts in a challenging new light

The Great War in Irish Poetry Fran Brearton,2003

The Great War in Irish Poetry explores the impact of the First World War on the work of W B Yeats Robert Graves and Louis MacNeice in the period 1914 45 and on three contemporary Northern Irish poets Derek Mahon Seamus Heaney and Michael Longley Its concern is to place their work andmemory of the Great War in the context of Irish politics and culture in the twentieth century The historical background to Irish involvement in the Great War is explained as are the ways in which issues raised in 1912 20 still reverberate in the politics of remembrance in Northern Ireland particularly through such events as the Home Rule cause the loss of the Titanic the Battle of the Somme the Easter Rising While the Great War is perceived as central to English culture and its literature holds a privileged position in the English literary canon the centrality of the Great War to Irish writing has seldom been recognised This book shows first that despite complications in Irish domestic politicswhich led to the repression of memory of the Great War Irish poets have been drawn throughout the century to the events and images of 1914 18 This engagement is particularly true of those writing in the troubled Northern Ireland of the last thirty years The second main concern is the extent towhich recognition of the importance of the Great War in Irish writing has itself become a casualty of competing versions of the literary canon

Selected Literary Criticism of Louis MacNeice Louis MacNeice, 1987

Although the poetry of Louis MacNeice (1907-1963) has long been available in collected editions, this is the first volume to bring together a selection of his equally accomplished literary criticism. Drawn from reviews, articles, drama criticism, and other publications, these fifty-six selections strike a balance between his earliest and his most mature work, and canvas the full range of his interests, from classical writers to his own contemporaries, with essays on such prominent personal friends as W.B. Yeats, W.H. Auden, T.S. Eliot, and Dylan Thomas. The volume also contains an introduction, notes, and a full bibliography of MacNeice's short prose, not limited to his literary criticism.

Writers and Protestantism in the North of Ireland Barry Sloan, 2000 Examining the relationship between literature and Protestantism in Northern Ireland, the book begins by presenting the theological and historical contexts for the development of Protestantism in Ulster and considers its effect on the culture of the province. Special attention is given to the influence of the Presbyterian Church and to the significance of its move away from radical dissent in the face of Home Rule politics. The consequences of this move for 20th century Protestants is discussed with reference to literary, political, theological, and critical sources. Separate chapters discuss the poetry of Rodgers, Hewitt, MacNeice, Mahon, and Paulin. Other chapters address representations of the Protestant experience in fiction and drama. Sloan teaches English at the University of Southampton New College. Distributed by ISBS Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Letters of Louis MacNeice Louis MacNeice, 2014-11-20 Louis MacNeice is increasingly recognised as one of the greatest poets of the twentieth century and his work has been a defining influence upon a generation of Irish poets that includes Derek Mahon, Michael Longley and Paul Muldoon. The Selected Letters is indispensable as a resource for an understanding of the intellectual culture of the mid twentieth century. A Classics don, poet, playwright and globetrotting BBC producer, the medley and blend of MacNeice's cultural influences seems exemplary in its modernity. He kept up a significant correspondence with E R Dodds, Anthony Blunt and T S Eliot to name but three prominent figures of the time. During his time at the BBC MacNeice witnessed many key events including the partition of India in 1947 and the independence of the Gold Coast from Britain in 1957 and these are recorded in two long sequences to his wife the singer Hedli Anderson. His complex relationship to Ireland and to his Irish heritages speak resonantly to contemporary debates about Irish and Northern Irish cultural identity. Finally the Letters will do much to broaden our understanding of a vivid and often enigmatic personality whose varied life and individual charisma have often resisted explanation. At Home in Time Patrick Deane, 1994 Patrick Deane argues that modern English poetry in some key aspects is deeply indebted to the classical tradition and more particularly to the attitudes and modes of the eighteenth century. He illustrates how neo-Augustan values are apparent in the works of T S Eliot, W H Auden, Louis MacNeice, A D Hope, Donald Davie, Charles Tomlinson and others. Louis MacNeice and the Poetry of the 1930s Richard Danson Brown, 2009 This study investigates Louis MacNeice in two major central strands. Firstly it explores his ambiguous positioning as an Irish poet. Secondly it presents him as a critically self-conscious writer: his readiness to explain his work helps to account for his influence on later poets. Irish University Review, 2008 A journal of Irish studies.

New Voices in Irish Criticism 3 Karen Vandervelde, 2002 The third volume in the literature series includes contributions from Mary Burke, James Byrne, Anthony Caleshu, Heather Clark, Elke D Hoker, Michael Flanagan, Oona Frawley, Jason Hall, Michael Jaros, Ronan Kelly, Padraig Kirwan, Heather Laird, Dymphna Lonergan, Virginia Mack, M rta Minier, Ruben Moi, Sean Moore, Katie Moylan, Catriona Torna, Cristina Pascual, Arans ez, Michelle Paul, Maria Power, Loredana Salis, Claire Schomp, Gerold Sedlmayr, Kersti Tarien and Desmond Traynor. Poetry Review Stephen Phillips, Galloway Kyle, 1998
