Love Letters A Little Anthology Of Passion:

Love Letters Michelle Lovric, 2001-12-07 Shoppers just can't resist. They scan the beautiful covers of our Little Books and feel compelled to pick up at least one of these miniature treasures. That certainly helps account for the four and a half million Little Books we sell annually. These miniature volumes make such wonderful gifts with their range of topics, pleasing designs, and unique ability to convey the very essence of their subjects. They are colorful, creative, and a delight to give and receive. The Fall 2001 list includes a profusion of selections. We're offering choices that cover everything from warm relationships to hard-nosed business advice. Chris Shea's two Little Books display the best of both parenting and grandparenting. Parenting also gets a decidedly humorous touch in Jim Dale's look at Jewish mothers, while Michael Cader has fun with mothers, fathers, and everyone getting older in his hilarious diminutive tomes. Our Little Book list also reflects a variety of women's interests. Cate Holly's teen spin on friends, moms, and sisters. Michelle Lovric's letters between women and among lovers, and Laura Boswell's outstanding collection of quotations regarding business. This beautiful book of words between women celebrates the many ages and stages in women's lives. Includes miniature envelopes with letter inserts. Love Letters Michelle Lovric, 1994 A romantic interactive gift book with facsimiles of real letters and quotations from five centuries of real-life love letters. These are arranged thematically, tracing the natural history of romantic love from the first Revelation to full-fired Passion with Adoration, Propositions, Hesitation, and Supplication along the way, followed by Possession, Celebration, Felicitations, and Domestication. The experience of opening a real love letter for the first time is recreated; envelopes and packets contain facsimiles of real love letters from eloquent lovers. Textured papers, Victorian paintings, lithographs, and line drawings complement the design. Love Letters Michelle Janning, 2018-06-14 In today's world of Tinder and texting, do we write and save love letters anymore? Are we more likely to save a screenshot of a text exchange or a box of paper letters from a lover? How might these different ways to store a love letter make us feel? Sociologist Michelle Janning's Love Letters: Saving Romance in the Digital Age offers a new twist on the study of love letters: what people do with them and whether digital or paper format matters. Through stories, a rich review of past research, and her own survey findings, Janning uncovers whether and how people from different groups, including gender and age, approach their love-letter curatorial practices in an era when digitization of communication is nearly ubiquitous. She investigates the importance of space and time, showing how our connection to the material world and our attraction to nostalgia matter in actions as seemingly small and private as saving, storing, stumbling upon, or even burning a love letter. Janning provides a framework for understanding why someone may prefer digital or paper love letters and what that preference says about a person's access and attachment to powerful cultural values such as individualization, taking time in a hectic world, longevity, privacy, and keeping cherished things in a safe place. Ultimately, Janning contends the cultural values that tell us how romantic love should be defined are more powerful than the format our love letters take. Vanity Fair, 1920 The Harvard Classics Anthology Johann

Dutra, 2006 This volume of collected articles is the first to focus exclusively on the history of homosexuality in the Portuguese speaking world Of the thirteen studies included nine make available for the first time in English the work of eminent Luso-Brazilian historians including no less than three by the preeminent researcher in the field Professor Luiz Mott of the Federal University of Bahia Two others analyze in detail the first novels The Baron of Lavos in Portugal and Bom Crioulo in Brazil both written in the 1890s that portray a homosexual relationship in a frankly realistic way The collection should serve as essential reading for courses in Portuguese and Brazilian social history The Publishers Weekly, 1919 Anthology of Russian short stories from classical to modern, 1985 The Illustrated London News, 1924 Through Human Love to God Pamela Williams, 2007 Dante and Petrarch are two of the world's greatest love poets who convey the story of their emotional intellectual and religious life in part through a story of human love The focus here is not so much on the myriad symbolic values and associations of Beatrice and Laura but rather both on the attitudes of these two poets to sexual desire in order to throw some light on the character of their human love and on the status and value they give to human love in the context of their Christian lives For all the stark contrasts between them Dante and Petrarch have been often compared for they write in a common literary classical and Christian tradition The comparison generally leads to the conclusion that Dante describes his human love experience as positive and constructive whilst Petrarch's experience of love is negative and destructive. My intention here is not to polarize their views in this way but rather to identify the different yet positive and highly original value both poets attribute to human love. More than fifty years ago Etienne Gilson claimed that Peter Abelard turned to loving God in the way that Heloise had loved him with the disinterestedness which she claimed in loving him and which she accused him of never understanding in loving her. It is the general argument of this study that Dante and Petrarch as well as leaving their original mark on the treatment of love in literature have insights into religion personal to them which can be likewise characterized by examining their attitude to human love and the story of their personal loves. There are many more aspects to their Catholicism than are examined in these essays. The discussion here is of that part of their faith which grows out of or is coloured by or at least can be explored through their human loving.
