examining the influence of Pompeian architecture in Spain in paintings that depict scenes inspired by Roman scenes and also buildings modelled on those of Pompeii. Next the influence of Pompeii crosses the Atlantic to Mexico with a study of the archaeological site's influence on the visual and performing arts. An exploration of the elitist use of the ancient past in architecture is seen in Chilean architecture which leads onto an investigation of the new art styles that emerged in the 19th century. Later chapters look into the influence of the ancient frescoes and the use of modern plaster casts of statues. The final chapters are devoted to comics and photography which also make a study of the places in Latin America nicknamed Pompeii in the 20th and 21st centuries. An intriguing and controversial phenomenon in cultural theory is the fusion of high and popular culture as characteristic of the postmodern period. Once provocative artists such as Brecht, Picasso and others had lost their subversive powers in school curricula and the museum and so were fully embraced by the bourgeoisie. In left wing reactionary fashion a new trend was born in British and American underground collectives which aimed to incorporate the trivial and commercial into cultural expression. A new generation was on the move which regarded an absolute distinction between elite and mass production as extremely unhip. The most famous example is probably Andy Warhol's pop art which inevitably brings to mind stacked up Brillo boxes, Coca Cola bottles and Campbell soup cans combining sophisticated painting techniques with mundane advertising images. When measured against the real culture of modernism postmodernism signifies a culture of kitsch in much of the approach conceptualized by the leading American theorist Fredric Jameson. He puts a distinctly political spin on the concept of postmodernism in his book Postmodernism or the Cultural Logic of Late Capitalism. He views it as the cultural dominant of global capitalism. What has happened is that aesthetic production today has become integrated into commodity production generally as a result of American economic domination. As an example of the practice of this new culture Jameson utilizes cinema which he regards as the preeminent postmodern medium due to its emphasis on sight Particular reference is given to Hollywood productions of the late 20th century As a representation of this genre my selection includes American Graffiti 1973 Pulp Fiction 1994 True Romance 1983 Back to the Future 1985 Peggy Sue got Married 1986 and Rumble Fish 1983 After Documentation Abstracts ,1984 International Books in Print ,1990
