Movement And Mimesis:

Movement and Mimesis Mandakranta Bose,2012-12-06 The most comprehensive view of the evolution of dancing in India is one that is derived from Sanskrit textual sources These texts are the basic material that students of the dance in India must examine in order to uncover its past Since the rebirth of informed interest in dancing in early twentieth century its antiquity has been acknowledged but precisely what the art was in antiquity remains unclear Discovering the oldest forms of dancing in India requires as do other historical quests a reconstruction of the past and again as in other historical investigations the primary sources of knowledge are records from the past In this case the records are treatises and manuals in Sanskrit that discuss and describe dancing These are the sources that the present work sets out to mine These texts taken collectively are more than records of a particular state of the art They testify to the growth of the theory and practice of the art and thus establish it as an evolving rather than a fixed art form that changed as much in response to its own expanding aesthetic boundaries as to parallel or complementary forms of dance drama and music that impinged upon it as India's social and political situation changed When we place the Sanskrit treatises in chronological sequence it becomes clear that the understanding of the art has changed through time in its infancy as well as in maturer periods

Performance and

Performativity Mehmet Şiray,2009 Within the wide range of writings on performance studies theoreticians and practitioners have been using the concepts of performance and performativity as key terms for explaining different social philosophical and artistic phenomena The question what are performance and performativity is always already shaped according to what sort of performance is being carried out which performance is taken into consideration which contexts and power knowledge stratum operate in the formation of these concepts Performance and Performativity primarily aims to find a way of grasping the maze of different positions that have become incorporated within the general and often overlapping terms of performance studies and performative theory The book focuses on how the power of discourse to produce what it names is linked with the question of performance and performativity rather than providing a general intellectual background and context for the modern idea of performance and performativity

Narrative Medicine

Rita Charon,2006-03-02 In this important and long awaited book Rita Charon provides a comprehensive and systematic introduction to the conceptual principles underlying narrative medicine as well as a practical guide for implementing narrative methods in health care A true milestone in the field it will interest general readers and experts in medicine and humanities and literary theory

Resilience and Responsiveness Michael Barber,2024-03-25 This book extends Alfred Schutz's On Multiple Realities by describing the provinces of meaning of play music religious ritual and African American folkloric humor Throughout these provinces the author traces two themes resilience and responsiveness In resilience individuals or communities run up against obstacles imposed relevances which they come to terms with or give meaning to in phenomenological parlance by modifying evading overcoming or accepting them Responsiveness emerges from Schutz's idea of making music together which the author takes further by analyzing the mimetic encounter with the other and the asymmetries in listening to music and especially by showing how the features of the cognitive style of music as a province of meaning affect sociality disposing us to be more vulnerable and attentive to each other's non conceptual musical meanings This text appeals to upper level undergraduate students and graduate students as well as to faculty in philosophy

The Truth (and Untruth) of Language Gerrit Jan van der Heiden,2010 In this study Gert Jan van der Heiden shows that this hermeneutic understanding of the relation between truth untruth and language can be clarified by inquiring into the meaning of two notions disclosure and displacement Unconcealment and hiding truth and untruth disclosure and displacement are the key notions to understanding the various conceptions of language in contemporary approaches to hermeneutics in continental philosophy By painting a picture of the different meanings of these concepts in the work of Heidegger Ricoeur and Derrida illuminating the differences and affinities of their respective projects he finds an original way of showing how these three thinkers mutually discuss the relation between truth and language

Forms of Emotion Peta Tait,2021-11-29 Forms of Emotion analyses how drama theatre and contemporary performance present emotion and its human and nonhuman diversity This book explores the emotions emotional feelings mood and affect which make up a spectrum of emotion to illuminate theatrical knowledge and practice and reflect the distinctions and debates in philosophy neuroscience psychology and other disciplines This study asserts that specific forms of emotion are intentionally unified in drama theatre and performance to convey meaning counteract separation and subversively champion emotional freedom The book progressively shows that the dramatic and theatrical representation of the nonhuman reveals how human dominance is offset by emotional connection with birds animals and the natural environment This book will be of great interest to students and researchers interested in the emotions and affect in dramatic literature theatre studies performance studies psychology and philosophy as well as artists working with emotionally expressive performance

The Inappropriate Voice Moneera Abdulla Al-Ghadeer,1999

Interfaces of the Word Walter J. Ong,2013-02-14 Drawing on a wide range of disciplines linguistics phenomenological analysis cultural anthropology media studies and intellectual history Walter J Ong offers a reasoned and sophisticated view of human consciousness different in many respects from that of structuralism The essays in Interfaces of the Word are grouped around the dialectically related themes of change or alienation and growth or integration Among the subjects Ong covers are the origins of speech in mother tongues the rise and final erosion of nonvernacular learned languages and the fictionalizing of audiences that is enforced by writing Other essays treat the idiom of African talking drums the ways new media interface with the old and the various connections between specific literary forms and shifts in media that register in the work of Shakespeare and Milton and in movements such as the New Criticism Ong also discusses the paradoxically nonliterary character of the Bible and the concerted blurring of fiction and actuality that marked much drama and narrative toward the close of the twentieth century

Homosexuality in French History and Culture Jeffrey Merrick,Michael Sibalis,2013-09-13

Deconstruct changing representations of homosexuality with this important new work of cultural criticism. Homosexuality in French History and Culture explores episodes, patterns and images of same sex attraction in France from the sixteenth to the twenty first century from the essays of Michel de Montaigne to pride parades in contemporary Paris. This groundbreaking book documents the ways homosexuality has been named, experienced, regulated, understood and imagined. During these centuries, homosexuality has been stigmatized as a sin, crime or disease and denounced as a threat to social order and national identity. Yet the rhetoric of condemnation has always co-existed with the reality of toleration. This groundbreaking collection analyzes the ways in which persecutions, as well as differences within minority sexual subcultures, have highlighted stereotypes and anxieties about class and age differences, gendered roles and separatism. Homosexuality in French History and Culture offers historical and literary studies based on a wide variety of sources including novels, plays and poetry, gossip and satires, police reports, medical texts, travel literature, newspapers and periodicals, memoirs. Homosexuality in French History and Culture combines fresh, creative re-interpretations of familiar texts with exciting new explorations of neglected historical episodes and cultures. It is a landmark of meticulous scholarship and rigorous theoretical analysis and a vital resource for scholars of queer theory, French history and culture and literary criticism.

The Lancet, 1880 The Pedagogical Seminary, 1908 Vols 5-15 include Bibliography of child study by Louis N. Wilson Transpoetic Exchange Marília Librandi, Jamille Pinheiro Dias, Tom Winterbottom, 2020-06-12. Transpoetic Exchange illuminates the poetic interactions between Octavio Paz (1914-1998) and Haroldo de Campos (1929-2003) from three perspectives: comparative, theoretical and performative. The poem 'Blanco' by Octavio Paz, written when he was ambassador to India in 1966, and Haroldo de Campos' translation or what he calls a transcreation of that poem, published as Transblanco in 1986, as well as Campos' 'Galxias' (written from 1963 to 1976) are the main axes around which the book is organized. The volume is divided into three parts: 'Essays' unites seven texts by renowned scholars who focus on the relationship between the two authors, their impact and influence, and their cultural resonance; by exploring and exploring the historical background and the different stylistic and cultural influences on the authors, ranging from Latin America and Europe to India and the U.S. The second section, 'Remembrances', collects four experiences of interaction with Haroldo de Campos in the process of transcreating Paz's poem and working on Transblanco and 'Galxias'. In the last section, 'Poems', five poets of international standing (Jerome Rothenberg, Antonio Cicero, Keijiro Suga, Andr Vallias and Charles Bernstein) Paz and Campos, one from Mexico and the other from Brazil, were central figures in the literary history of the second half of the 20th century in Latin America and beyond. Both poets signal the direction of poetry as that of translation, understood as the embodiment of otherness and of a poetic tradition that every new poem brings back as a Babel re-enacted. This volume is a print corollary to and expansion of an international colloquium and poetic performance held at Stanford University in January 2010, and it offers a discussion of the role of poetry and translation from a global perspective. The collection holds great value for those interested in all aspects of literary translation and it
