Movie House:

Movie Houses of Greater Newark Philip M. Read, 2013 For decades Newark and its environs have been lit up by the bright neon lights of grand movie palaces and theaters. In the early 20th century stages that were originally built for vaudeville acts were turned over to silver screens and the flickering images from motion picture projectors. This new technology ushered Hollywood movies to the East Coast and made cinema accessible for locals to enjoy. Movie houses and palaces provided moviegoers a new type of viewing experience. With ornate interiors and rich architecture these institutions offered their patrons a beautiful setting to watch classic films. Over time these establishments evolved and began hosting burlesque shows and rock concerts. Today many of these downtown landmarks have been demolished, replaced or adaptively renovated into the modern multiplexes of today. Images of the Paramount and the Mosque Theater help Movie Houses of Greater Newark tell the story of an era when going to the movies was an event. Historic Movie Houses of Austin Susan Ritterreiser, Michael C. Miller, Austin History Center, 2016-11-14 Motion pictures came to Austin on October 10, 1896, debuting at the Hancock Opera House. Since then movies have continued to enchant, entertain and inform the citizens of the capital of Texas. And the places the movie houses and theaters where people saw motion pictures played just as important a role in the moviegoing experience as the movies themselves. As the city's population grew and motion picture technology changed so too did Austin's movie houses, from the first kinetoscope parlor on Congress Avenue to the city's first fourplex, the Aquarius 4, in southeast Austin. While most of these places are long gone, some withstood the test of time and are still showing movies or have been repurposed for other uses. Through the rich archival collections of the Austin History Center, Historic Movie Houses of Austin explores the stories of these important historic spaces and of the lives of those who were connected with them.

Nevada Yesterdays Frank Wright, 2005 For 18 years Las Vegans have enjoyed small helpings of their own rich history served up by public radio station KNPR. Hearing well-told tales of characters with names like Whiskey Pete and the comic opera romance between a famous female evangelist and a boyfriend called Whataman, many a listener has wished for a transcript. This book fulfills that wish, presenting more than 100 selected mostly by the program's original author, historian Frank Wright. Wright mined the pits and pockets of local lore for nuggets little known to the public, misunderstood by most or merely enough fun to be worth telling once more.

Theatre Arts Sheldon Cheney, Edith Juliet Rich Isaacs, 1919 Atlas of Emotion Giuliana Bruno, 2018-07-10 An award-winning cultural history of how we experience the world through art, film and architecture. Atlas of Emotion is a highly original endeavor to map the cultural terrain of spatio-visual arts. In an evocative blend of words and pictures, Giuliana Bruno emphasizes the connections between sight and site and motion and emotion. In so doing, she touches on the art of Gerhard Richter and Louise Bourgeois, the filmmaking of Peter

Greenaway and Michelangelo Antonioni media archaeology and the origins of the museum and her own journeys to her native Naples Visually luscious and daring in conception Bruno's book opens new vistas and understandings at every turn

Movies and American Society Steven J. The American Drive-In Movie Theater Don Sanders, Susan Sanders, 2003-07 The drive-in movie theater brought together two distinct American institutions: cars and movies. Since the earliest drive-ins of the 1930s, these entertainment complexes have been an integral part of American culture. Their appeal stretched to people from all corners of the country, offering a place for social gathering and various amusements. Take a ride down memory lane in this entertaining look at every aspect of the drive-in movie theater: the architecture, the marquees, the cars, the food, and much more. Black and white and color photos along with period ads and other memorabilia provide a highly illustrated tour from the origins of the drive-in through its heyday in the 1950s, its decline and its subsequent revival.

Nickelodeon, 1917 New York Richard Alleman, 2005 An updated guide for movie-loving travelers describes points of interest in the New York area including historic studios, celebrity homes, famous movie theaters, revival houses, movie star burial sites, memorabilia shops, acting schools, and museums. The New York State Exhibitor ... , 1929 Outlook Alfred Emanuel Smith, Francis Walton, 1923 In Broad Daylight Gabriele Pedulla, 2012-06-06 From plasma screens to smartphones today moving images are everywhere. How have films adapted to this new environment? And how has the experience of the spectator changed because of this proliferation? In Broad Daylight investigates one of the decisive shifts in the history of Western aesthetics, exploring the metamorphosis of films in the age of individual media when the public is increasingly free but also increasingly resistant to the emotive force of the pictures flashing around us. Moving deftly from philosophy of mind to film theory, from architectural practice to ethics, from Leon Battista Alberti to Orson Welles, Gabriele Pedulla examines the revolution that is reshaping the entire system of the arts and creativity in all its manifestations.
