Modes of Representation Richard Kimberly Heck, 2024 Modes of Presentation analyses a collection of problems known as Frege's puzzle resulting from how thinkers and speakers have a limited perspective on reference in thought and language Heck argues that these puzzles have much to teach us both about the foundations of cognition and the nature of linguistic communication The Last Word Thomas Nagel, 1997-01-30 If there is such a thing as reason it has to be universal Reason must reflect objective principles whose validity is independent of our point of view principles that anyone with enough intelligence ought to be able to recognize as correct But this generality of reason is what relativists and subjectivists deny in ever increasing numbers And such subjectivism is not just an inconsequential intellectual flourish or badge of theoretical chic It is exploited to deflect argument and to belittle the pretensions of the arguments of others The continuing spread of this relativistic way of thinking threatens to make public discourse increasingly difficult and to exacerbate the deep divisions of our society In The Last Word Thomas Nagel one of the most influential philosophers writing in English presents a sustained defense of reason against the attacks of subjectivism delivering systematic rebuttals of relativistic claims with respect to language logic science and ethics He shows that the last word in disputes about the objective validity of any form of thought must lie in some unqualified thoughts about how things are thoughts that we cannot regard from outside as mere psychological dispositions Creating a Shared Morality Heather Salazar, 2021-10-18 In Creating a Shared Morality Heather Salazar develops a consistent and plausible account of ethical constructivism that rivals the traditional metaethical theories of realism and subjectivism without lapsing into subjectivism as do previous constructivist attempts Salazar's Enlightenment argues that all people have moral obligations and that if they reflect well they will naturally come to care about others as extensions of themselves Enlightenment resolves difficulties within constructivism builds bridges between the two traditional Western views of metaethics and employs concepts from Eastern Buddhist philosophy It embraces universal morality while elevating the importance of autonomy diversity and connectedness Constructivist enlightenment entails understanding the interdependence of people on others such that we are all co responsible for the world in which we live
