Currents of Encounter invites scholarly contributions that utilize interreligious intercultural comparative postcolonial and other contemporary critical interdisciplinary approaches from across all religious traditions to address topical questions on the challenges and opportunities arising from intercultural interreligious engagements or the intersections of cultures and religions. Studies dealing explicitly with the dynamics of the intersection of religious and cultural traditions are increasing every year and scholars have become aware of the complexity and diversity of interreligious and intercultural relations. Recent literature offers a broad panoply of theoretical approaches from theologies of religions to comparative theologies from discourse analysis to a postcolonial critique focusing on issues of power from feminist readings asking about the specific role of women in interreligious dialogue to interreligious hermeneutics exploring how meaning may travel across cultural and religious traditions. Currents of Encounter welcomes this variety of works in these disciplines and from interdisciplinary perspectives aiming thus to contribute to a better understanding of the complexities of interreligious and intercultural themes. The board welcomes both monographs and edited volumes. Possible domains: interreligious studies, intercultural theology and philosophy, comparative theology and philosophy, theologies of religions.

Subud and the Javanese Mystical Tradition Antoon Geels, 1997. Subud is one of hundreds of mystical movements, aliran kebatinan, which have grown significantly in postwar Indonesia. Along with other movements like Sumarah and Pangestu

Subud has attracted people from the West and has now spread to about eighty countries. Despite the fact that Subud leaders deny any relation to the Javanese mystical tradition, it is one of the tasks of this study to show that the greater part of Subud's conceptual apparatus is firmly rooted in the cultural history of Java. Under the banner of change and renewal, Subud presents a message which fundamentally is one of continuity in a society in transition. This text presents an overall picture of the history of Javanese mysticism, particularly the concept of God, the view of man, and the techniques recommended in order to bridge the gap between God and man. The text discusses the rise of mystical movements in post-war Java, along with a presentation of three movements which attracted the West. In addition, the book provides a biography of the founder of Subud, the basic concepts of Subud, and the meaning of the Subud spiritual exercise, latihan kejiwaan, along with an analysis of Subud theory and practice and its relation to the Javanese mystical tradition and a psychological interpretation of the spiritual exercise.

Magic and Mystics of Java Nina Epton, 1974      The Filipino Mind Leonardo N. Mercado,      The Cambridge History of Southeast Asia: Volume 2, The Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries Nicholas Tarling, 1992

Southeast Asia has long been seen as a unity, although other terms have been used to describe it: Further India, Little China, the Nanyang. The region has had a protracted maritime history. Confucianism, Buddhism, Islam, Hinduism, Christianity are all represented. It has seen a quintet of colonial powers: Britain, France, The Netherlands, Spain, the United States. Most recently, it has become one of the fastest growing parts of the world economy. The very term Southeast Asia is clearly more than a geographical expression. The Cambridge History of Southeast Asia is a multi-authored treatment of the whole of mainland and island Southeast Asia, from Burma to Indonesia. Unlike other histories of the region, it is not divided on a country-by-country basis and is not structured purely chronologically, but rather takes a thematic and regional approach to Southeast Asia's history. This volume, the second and final in the series, takes us into the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, from the late eighteenth century of the Christian era, when most of the region was incorporated into European empires, to the complexity and dramatic change of the post-World War II period. It covers the economic and social life, as well as the religious and popular culture of the region, as they develop over two centuries. The political structures of the region are also closely examined, from the insurgencies and rebellions of early this century to the modern Nationalist movements which challenged the control of the colonial powers and led to the formation of independent states. Under the editorship of Nicholas Tarling, Professor of History at the University of Auckland, New Zealand, each chapter is well integrated into the whole. Professor Tarling has assembled a highly respected team of international scholars who have presented the latest historical research on the region and succeeded in producing a provocative and exciting account of the region's history.
