Naming Nature: The Clash Between Instinct and Science Carol Kaesuk Yoon,2010-08-02 Examines the history of taxonomy describing the quest of scientists to name and classify living things from Carl Linnaeus to early twenty first century scientists who rely more on microscopic evidence than their senses which has encouraged an indifference to nature that is responsible for the extinction of many species Nature Knowledge Glauco Sanga,Gherardo Ortalli,2004-11 Numerous scholars in particular anthropologists historians economists linguists and biologists have over the last few years studied forms of knowledge and use of nature and of the ways nature can be protected and conserved Some of the most prominent scholars have come together in this volume to reflect on what has been achieved so far to compare the work carried out in the past to discuss the problems that have emerged from different research projects and to map out the way forward

A Poetics of Jesus Jeffrey F. Keuss,2018-10-24 This title was first published in 2002 A Poetics of Jesus explores the act of writing within and between the boundaries of 19th century biblical criticism and fiction Reflecting on the work of Christian poetics after Augustine to Baur Feuerbach Friedrich Strauss and Victorian novelists of the eighteenth and nineteenth century this book breaks new ground in juxtaposing the evoked image of Christ arising from Victorian biblical criticism against the image of Christ within fiction letting both these images and the words that figured them interact This book offers a highly accessible introduction to 19th century literature and theology through comparisons made to contemporary post modern theorists Demonstrating how literature can inform theology without itself becoming theology this book constitutes an important contribution to the literature theology debate and a much needed contribution to contemporary Christology through its introduction to the literature and the writers central to the beginnings of the historical quest for Jesus languages that reveals how humanity has named and been shaped by the natural world complete with exquisite archival artwork from the University of Oxford's Bodleian Library. From New York Times bestselling author T.A. Barron comes this captivating exploration of how human cultures across time and geography have described the living world around them. From the poetic to the practical, the reverent to the resourceful, every language holds unique insights into how we perceive and relate to nature. Drawing on etymology, folklore, and linguistic nuance, this richly illustrated volume uncovers the meanings behind the names we give to animals and plants from the unstoppable one elephant in Tswana and Tsonga to the delicate metaphors for butterflies and birds in ancient and modern tongues. Whether rooted in mythology, survival, or awe, these words reveal the deep interconnection between language and landscape. Featuring gorgeous illustrations sourced from the Bodleian's archives, Naming Nature is a celebration of cultural and ecological diversity and a beautiful gift for nature lovers, word enthusiasts, and anyone curious about the ways we speak of the wild.

Heartland Habitats Mary Blocksma, 2020-02-04

Star-shaped flowers, short tempered snapping turtles, and clusters of chicken flavored mushrooms are just a few of the many fascinating things awaiting discovery just beyond the typical North American backyard. In Heartland Habitats, 265 Midwest Nature Walks, Mary Blocksma guides readers through North American terrain, introducing them to the land and its thriving wildlife of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio. From birds of all kinds to fungi of both the tasty and deadly varieties, Chicken of the Woods, Death Caps, Jack O' Lanterns, Blocksma gradually uncovers a world rich with breathtaking beauty. Adventures filled with swan on goose battles, squirrel squabbles, and forays into forests all lead to a deeper understanding of the world around us. A lively and detailed guide in befriending the great outdoors, Heartland Habitats showcases the natural wonders thriving just outside our homes with full color illustrations and vivid descriptions.

Ralph Waldo Emerson, 1883 Naming Nature T.A. Barron, 2026-02-24

From butterflies and hummingbirds to narwhal and leopards, Naming Nature celebrates our wondrous natural world by exploring the language we use to describe it. Take elephants for instance: African languages often focus on the power of the animal. Tswana and Tsonga refer to the unstoppable one, and Zulu one crashing through. In ancient European languages, however, elephants were seen as commodities. When Homer and Hesiod wrote about elephas in the seventh century BCE, they simply used the word for ivory. Bestselling author T.A. Barron brings together his love of the natural world and his joy in language, creating an inspiring and often surprising collection.
