Science and Civilisation in China, Part 13, Mining Peter J. Golas, 1999-02-25 The fifth volume of Dr Needham s immense undertaking covers the subjects of chemistry and chemical technology This the thirteenth part of the volume is the first history of Chinese mining to appear in a western language Covering from the Neolithic period to the present day it deals with the full range of Chinese mining from copper to mercury arsenic to coal and a large number of other minerals and materials The author draws extensively not only on written sources but also on archaeological remains and observation of traditional techniques still in use The interrelationship between Chinese mining and the social economic and political conditions in which it took place is examined and leads the author to conclude that these extraneous factors were probably more important in determining how mining was carried out than technological progress IRP Reprint Series ,1966

Beauty Wang Ping, 2002-03-12 When Wang Ping was nine years old she secretly set about binding her feet with elastic bands. Footbinding had by then been outlawed in China; women's feet liberated but at that young age she desperately wanted the tiny feet her grandmother had deformed and malodorous as they were. By first examining the root of her own girlhood desire, Wang unleashes a fascinating inquiry into a centuries-old custom. Aching for Beauty combines Wang's unique perspective and remarkable literary gifts in an award-winning exploration of the history and culture surrounding footbinding. In setting out to demystify this reviled tradition, Wang probes an astonishing range of literary references, addresses the relationship between beauty and pain, and discusses the intense female bonds that footbinding fostered. Her comprehensive examination of the notions of hierarchy, femininity, and fetish bound up in the tradition places footbinding in its proper context in Chinese history and opens a window onto an intriguing culture. Books in Print, 1994 Paperbound Books in Print, 1992
