Holland,2013-04-25 While critics collect around the question of what comes after postmodernism

this book asks something different about recent American fiction what if we are seeing not the end of postmodernism but its belated success Succeeding Postmodernism examines how novels by DeLillo Wallace Danielewski Foer and others conceptualize threats to individuals and communities posed by a poststructural culture of mediation and simulation and possible ways of resisting the disaffected solipsism bred by that culture Ultimately it finds that twenty first century American fiction sets aside the postmodern problem of how language does or does not mean in order to raise the reassuringly retro question of what it can and does mean it finds that novels today offer language as solution to the problem of language Thus it suggests a new way of reading antihumanist late postmodern fiction and a framework for understanding postmodern and twenty first century fiction as participating in a long and newly enlivened tradition of humanism and realism in literature

The French Fictional Journal Valerie Raoul, 1980 Unlike other forms of fictional first person narrative such as the memoir or epistolary novel the French fictional journal or diary novel has received inadequate critical attention This is the first full length analysis devoted to its particular features Valerie Raoul bases her study on the premise that the interest of the fictional journal lies in its subjugation of one set of conventions those of the diary to another set those of the novel and the interference of each of those codes in the function of the other In this context she discusses more than fifty novels or short stories wholly or partly in diary form and written in France between 1800 and the present In the first part of the book she deals with the fictivity of the diary novel Philippe Lejeune s work on the functioning of autobiography serves as a point of comparison to elucidate the distinctive reading pact involved in this aspect of first person fiction The second part analyses the internal communication model on this intradiegetic level the fictional diarist is narrator actor and narratee In the third part an abstract model is developed to illustrate the functioning of the fictional journal as a bi textual form of communication in which the internal communications process is a mise en abyme of the external one between author character and reader The personal narcissism of the intimiste is seen to give way in the fictional journal intime to narcissistic fiction since diary novels are always the narration of the production of a recit This book is an important investigation into the very nature of fiction and the meaning of the activity of writing It not only fills an important gap in the appreciation of French prose but also adds to the comprehension of personal narrative in particular and narrative discourse in general
