Nationalism and the Formation of Caribbean Literature L. Rosenberg,2016-04-30 This book tells the story of how intellectuals in the English speaking Caribbean first created a distinctly Caribbean and national literature As traditionally told this story begins in the 1950s with the arrival and triumph of V S Naipaul George Lamming and their peers in the London literary scene However Afro Caribbeans were writing literature already in the 1840s as part of larger movements for political rights economic opportunity and social status Rosenberg offers a history of this first one hundred years of anglophone Caribbean literature and a critique of Caribbean literary studies that explains its neglect A historically contextualized study of both canonical and noncanonical writers this book makes the case that the few well known Caribbean writers from this earlier period Claude McKay Jean Rhys and C L R James participated in a larger Caribbean literary movement that directly contributed to the rise of nationalism in the region This movement reveals the prominence of Indian and other immigrant groups of feminism and of homosexuality in the formation of national literatures Verbal Riddim

Dance Between Two Cultures William Luis,2001 Offers insights on Latino Caribbean writers born or raised in the United States who are at the vanguard of a literary movement that has captured both critical and popular interest In this groundbreaking study William Luis analyzes the most salient and representative narrative and poetic works of the newest literary movement to emerge in Spanish American and U S literatures The book is divided into three sections each focused on representative Puerto Rican American Cuban American and Dominican American authors Luis traces the writers origins and influences from the nineteenth century to the present focusing especially on the contemporary works of Oscar Hijuelos Julia Alvarez Cristina Garcia and Piri Thomas among others While engaging in close readings of the texts Luis places them in a broader social historical political and racial perspective to expose the tension between text and context As a group Latino Caribbeans write an ethnic literature in English that is born of their struggle to forge an identity separate from both the influences of their parents culture and those of the United States For these writers their parents country of origin is a distant memory They have developed a culture of resistance and a language that mediates between their parents identity and the culture that they themselves live in Latino Caribbeans are engaged in a metaphorical dance with Anglo Americans as the dominant culture Just as that dance represents a coming together of separate influences to make a unique art form so do both Hispanic and North American cultures combine to bring a new literature into being This new body of literature helps us to understand not only the adjustments Latino Caribbean cultures have had to make within the larger U S environment but also how the dominant culture has been affected by their presence

The Politics of Race in Panama Sonja S. Watson, 2016-11-23 This volume tells the story of two cultural groups Afro Hispanics whose ancestors came to Panama as African slaves and West Indians from the English speaking countries of Jamaica and Barbados who arrived during the mid nineteenth and early twentieth centuries to build the railroad and the Panama Canal While Afro Hispanics assimilated after centuries of mestizaje race mixing and now identify with their Spanish heritage West Indians hold to their British Caribbean roots and identify more closely with Africa and the Caribbean By examining the writing of black Panamanian authors Sonja Watson highlights how race is defined contested and inscribed in Panama She discusses the cultural racial and national tensions that prevent these two groups from forging a shared Afro Panamanian identity ultimately revealing why ethnically diverse Afro descendant populations continue to struggle to create racial unity in nations across Latin America and the Caribbean

Race, Culture, and Identity Shireen K. Lewis, 2006-01-01 In this groundbreaking book Shireen Lewis gives a comprehensive analysis of the literary and theoretical discourse on race culture and identity by Francophone and Caribbean writers beginning in the early part of the twentieth century and continuing into the dawn of the new millennium Examining the works of Patrick Chamoiseau Rapha l Confiant Aim C saire L opold Senghor L on Damas and Paulette Nardal Lewis traces a move away from the preoccupation with African origins and racial and cultural purity toward concerns of hybridity and fragmentation in the New World or Diasporic space In addition to exploring how this shift parallels the larger debate around modernism and postmodernism Lewis makes a significant contribution by arguing for the inclusion of Martinican intellectual Paulette Nardal and other women into the canon as significant contributors to the birth of modern black Francophone literature Critical Nostalgia and Caribbean Migration J. A. Brown-Rose,2009 The literature of Caribbean writers living in the United States embodies a duality an awareness of multiple sites of identity as well as conflict of place and space Easily grouped with African Americans Caribbean peoples and other immigrants from the African Diaspora make up the quasi political face of Black America But as immigrants from a former colonized community Caribbean writers carry with them a historical experience that differentiates them from African Americans they stand on the border of two spaces What impact does this duality have on Caribbean literature written by writers who have left the home space for American soil As many writers have suggested Caribbean writers are continuously looking back to home in an attempt to understand who they are and where they belong This book postulates that it is through nostalgia or an attempt to renegotiate the past that the Caribbean writer attempts to reconcile his her duality Nostalgia can be directly linked to an understanding of and by extension a critique of American social and political practices as well as an appraisal of colonial influences in the Caribbean Thus the discourse of Caribbean writers living in America operates on different levels Although Caribbean migratory writers are continuously looking back to home this nostalgia is tied to a reevaluation of American and island consciousness The texts discussed in this work are in effect engaged in critical analysis the texts perform criticism of the home country and that man s country the United States Making Men Belinda Edmondson,1999 Explores the gendered subjectivity of West Indian writers and their dependence on models from Victorian England for their narratives of self and nation Postcolonial Perspectives on Women Writers from Africa, the Caribbean, and the US Martin Japtok,2003 Combining postcolonial perspectives with race and culture based studies which have merged the fields of African and black American studies this volume concentrates on women writers exploring how the post colonial condition is reflected in women s literature The essays are united by their focus on attempts to create alternative value systems through the rewriting of history or the reclassification of the woman s position in society By examining such strategies these essays illuminate the diversity and coherence of the postcolonial project
