Narrative Of The Persecution Of Agnes Be:

The Narrative of the Persecutions of Agnes Beaumont Agnes Beaumont,1992 The Narrative of the Persecution of Agnes Beaumont in 1674 Agnes Beaumont,1900 Baptist Women's Writings in Revolutionary Culture, 1640-1680 Rachel Adcock,2016-03-09 Although literary historical studies have often focused on the range of dissenting religious groups and writers that flourished during the English Revolution they have rarely had much to say about seventeenth century Baptists or indeed Baptist women Baptist Women s Writings in Revolutionary Culture 1640 1680 fills that gap exploring how female Baptists played a crucial role in the group s formation and growth during the 1640s and 50s by their active participation in religious and political debate and their desire to evangelise their followers The study significantly challenges the idea that women as members of these congregations were unable to write with any kind of textual authority because they were often prevented from speaking aloud in church meetings On the contrary Adcock shows that Baptist women found their way into print to debate points of church organisation and doctrine to defend themselves and their congregations to evangelise others by example and by teaching and to prophesy and discusses the rhetorical tactics they utilised in order to demonstrate the value of women s contributions In the course of the study Adcock considers and analyses the writings of little studied Baptist women Deborah Huish Katherine Sutton and Jane Turner as well as separatist writers Sara Jones Susanna Parr and Anne Venn She also makes due connection to the more familiar work of Agnes Beaumont Anna Trapnel and Anne Wentworth enabling a reassessment of the significance of those writings by placing them in this wider context Writings by these female Baptists attracted serious attention and as Adcock discusses some even found a trans national audience

Genre and Women's Life Writing in Early Modern England Michelle M. Dowd,Julie A. Eckerle,2016-04-15 By taking account of the ways in which early modern women made use of formal and generic structures to constitute themselves in writing the essays collected here interrogate the discursive contours of gendered identity in sixteenth and seventeenth century England The contributors explore how generic choice mixture and revision influence narrative constructions of the female self in early modern England Collectively they situate women s life writings within the broader textual culture of early modern England while maintaining a focus on the particular rhetorical devices and narrative structures that comprise individual texts Reconsidering women s life writing in light of recent critical trends most notably historical formalism this volume produces both new readings of early modern texts such as Margaret Cavendish s autobiography and the diary of Anne Clifford and a new understanding of the complex relationships between literary forms and early modern women s selves This volume engages with new critical methods to make innovative connections between canonical and non canonical writing in so doing it helps to shape the future of scholarship on early modern women

Overwhelming Anne Dunan-Page,2006 Awarded the 2007 National Research Prize SAES AEFA This study is a reappraisal of John Bunyan in the light of the dissenting religious culture of the late seventeenth century Charges of schism and fanaticism were repeatedly levelled against Bunyan both from within the dissenting community and without but far from being chastened by these accusations Bunyan responded with a religious discourse marked by a rhetoric of excess The focus of this book is therefore upon Bunyan s overwhelming spiritual experiences especially the representation of torment in his literary and polemical works The believers suffering was an obsessive concern of dissenting ministers even to the point where their writings are often remembered today for little else Hitherto most scholars have termed all the mental states that they invoke despair but this simplifies the experiences at issue A wealth of contemporary material helps to restore the nuances of seventeenth century physical and spiritual conditions from enthusiasm to melancholy and madness from fear to desertion and sloth These chapters explore fresh ways in which this subtle typology of torment and its extreme manifestations form the core of the literary expression of Restoration dissent challenging Bunyan to represent spiritual equilibrium as the ultimate quest of the earthly pilgrimage
