Narrative Order 17891819:

Narrative Order, 1789-1819 G. Edwards, 2005-11-22 In the decades immediately following the French Revolution British writers saw the narrative ordering of experience as either superficial dangerous or impossible Linking storytelling to other forms of social action including the making of contracts and promises Gavin Edwards argues that the experience of radical social upheaval produced a widespread scepticism about narrative as linguistic artefact the transmission of narrative through storytelling and the understanding of individual or collective life as a temporal sequence with a beginning and an end

Conversion and Reform in the British Novel in the 1790s A. Markley, 2009-01-08 Dramatically expanding the boundaries of the British Jacobin novel Conversion and Reform in the British Novel in the 1790s analyzes the works of a wide range of British reformists writing in the 1790s including William Godwin Mary Wollstonecraft Charlotte Smith Mary Robinson and Maria Edgeworth who reshaped the conventions of contemporary fiction to position the novel as a progressive political tool Rather than aiming to launch a bloody revolution these authors worked to initiate social and political reform in such areas as women's rights abolition the Jewish question and the leveling of the class system in Britain by converting the individual reader one reader at a time Property, Education and Identity in Late Eighteenth-Century Fiction V. Cope, 2009-05-29 Virginia H Cope analyzes the transition to modern ideals of identity by tracking a character type here called the Heroine of Disinterest that dominated late eighteenth century British fiction Best represented in Frances Burney's 1778 Evelina the Heroine of Disinterest is a young woman of uncertain birth but unshakeable virtue manifested in her acts of charity and absolute imperviousness to the lure of wealth and status Although the selfless heroine and the inheritance plot in which she figures are often dismissed as conventional this book demonstrates that the character was central to mediating the vexed relations among property education and identity unsettled by the rise of a capitalist ethos Associating disinterest with women rescued the ancient ideal from extinction while also providing the discursive means to divide subjectivity from proprietorship opening the way for the Romantic ideal of selfhood as the product of experience and reflection rather than inherited wealth and lineage book cover The Truth Against the World Mary-Ann Constantine, 2007 During Iolo Morganwg's lifetime Britain was obsessed with literary forgery This book reveals the unexpected connections and hidden influences behind Britain's most successful and therefore perhaps least visible Romantic forger Literature & History, 2007 A new journal for the humanities Annual Bibliography of English Language and Literature Modern Humanities Research Association, 2007 Includes both books and articles
