NASA Wendy Baker,1986 A guide to space exploration from NASA's founding in 1958 to the most recent space shuttle missions and futuristic imaginings of permanent space stations America in Space Steven Dick, Robert Jacobs, Constance Moore, Ulrich Bertram, 2007-10-01 The story of America's space age is told with more than 400 carefully selected images beginning with the 1950s test pilots and venturing ever faster and higher into the now legendary missions that made astronauts into national heroes Skylab Shayler David, 2001-05-28 Between May 1973 and February 1974 three teams of astronauts increased the American space endurance record from 14 days set in 1965 to three months aboard the Skylab space station in missions lasting 28, 59 and 84 days American astronauts did not surpass these records for over 20 years until the NASA Mir missions began in 1995 In Skylab America's space station David Shayler chronicles the evolution of the station its infrastructure on the ground including astronaut training each of the three manned missions summary of results achievements and the lessons learned The creation of the International Space Station is the real legacy of Skylab as American astronauts once again embark on extended missions around the Earth NASA/TREK Constance Penley, 1997-06-17 In this investigation and celebration of America's fascination with space Constance Penley a professor of film studies and women's studies at the University of California illustrates issues of sex and sexuality in the world of science and technology and examines the widely held prejudices against women in this area 20 photos Halfway to Anywhere George Harry Stine, 1996-01 The story of the reusable economical Single Stage To Orbit SSTO spaceship built in twenty months from parts found in space junkyards and WalMart provides information on how and why these commercial spaceships can benefit the space program IP NASA at 40, what Kind of Space Program Does America Need for the 21st Century? United States. Florida's Space Coast William B. Faherty, 2024-03-05 An important interesting study of the relations between the Kennedy Space Center and the communities of Brevard County Florida Roger D. Launius chief historian NASA Washington D.C. This outstanding book provides readers of Florida history our first insight into the impact that high technology has had on the state Brevard County is a veritable laboratory for understanding what happens when space science and engineering put down roots in a wilderness setting Faherty's writing is direct simple even folksy at times I devoured it Michael Gannon author of Pearl Harbor Betrayed and A Short History of Florida Florida's Space Coast tells the compelling story of America's half century in space exploration from the successful launch of the first two stage rocket in 1950 through the latest space shuttle missions of 2000 Told from the unique viewpoint of the people who built the Spaceport this book shows how the space program transformed the east central Florida coast from a traditional citrus production and tourist area to one of the most influential high tech centers in the nation Cape Canaveral was chosen as a missile launch site because of its many geographical advantages However in the early years of the space program the area was far from an ideal place for NASA employees to raise their families NASA brought in thousands of space related workers who besides sending machines and men into space had to meet the challenge of moving their families from urban environs to a rural southern county This book engagingly recounts the parallel stories of the establishment of America's space program and its impact on the development of Brevard County William Barnaby Faherty is professor emeritus of history at St. Louis University and director of the Museum of the Western Jesuit Missions in Hazelwood Missouri

Space and the American Imagination Howard E. McCurdy, 2011-03 People dreamed of cosmic exploration winged spaceships and lunar voyages space stations and robot astronauts long before it actually happened Space and the American Imagination traces the emergence of space travel in the popular mind its expression in science fiction and its influence on national space programs Space exploration dramatically illustrates the power of imagination Howard E. McCurdy shows how that power inspired people to attempt what they once deemed impossible In a mere half century since the launch of the first Earth orbiting satellite in 1957 humans achieved much of what they had once only read about in the fiction of Jules Verne and H G Wells and the nonfiction of Willy Ley Reaching these goals however required broad based support and McCurdy examines how advocates employed familiar metaphors to excite interest promising for example that space exploration would recreate the American frontier experience and prepare the public for daring missions into space When unexpected realities and harsh obstacles threatened their progress the space community intensified efforts to make their wildest dreams come true This lively and important work remains relevant given contemporary questions about future plans at NASA Fully revised and updated since its original publication in 1997 Space and the American Imagination includes a reworked introduction and conclusion and new chapters on robotics and space commerce Historical Origins of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration United States. Inventing the American Astronaut Matthew H. Hersch,2012-10-08 Who were the men who led America s first expeditions into space Soldiers Daredevils The public sometimes imagined them that way heroic military men and hot shot pilots without the capacity for doubt fear or worry However early astronauts were hard working and determined professionals organization men who were calm calculating and highly attuned to the politics and celebrity of the Space Race Many would have been at home in corporate America and until the first rockets carried humans into space some seemed to be headed there Instead they strapped themselves to missiles and blasted skyward returning with a smile and an inspiring word for the press From the early days of Project Mercury to the last moon landing this lively history demystifies the American astronaut while revealing the warring personalities raw ambition and complex motives of the men who were the public face of the space program A.B.I.S. - America Back Into Space Phil Reeder,2020-02-24 On the 21st of July 2011 after more than 30 years and over 100 missions into outer space America s Space Shuttle programme came to an end with nothing really fully prepared to replace it But suppose it had not come to an end Suppose the machines which had served America s Space Agency NASA and the American people for so long and so well had been reinvented to enable them to serve once again as a vital part of America s next space faring adventure its greatest adventure so far This is the story of that adventure This is story of Robert L Carter an engineering genius who was tasked by an American President to take America back into space after the end of the Space Shuttle programme This is the story of multimedia tycoon Cameron Milo the man who helped keep secret the true goal of America s greatest ever space faring adventure until it was time for the American people to truly know what it was and the true direction it was taking This is the story of Sharon Applegate a reporter who became aware of the secret and who was given the job of bringing that secret out of the dark and into the light by making the American people aware of its existence And finally this is the story of Paula Travers a NASA astronaut and the team she would lead on America s greatest ever space faring adventure so far This is a story about drive determination and triumph over adversity This is the story of how one man was given the chance to make his dream become a reality and take America back into space after the end of the Space Shuttle programme This is the story of ABIS America Back Into Space For my first journey into the world of Science Fiction I have tried to create a story which is based as much as possible on hard Science Fact Space and Aero Space concepts Since 2004 I have had the great honour and privilege to train on programmes either organised by or supported by NASA the American Space Agency firstly at Kennedy Space Centre in 2004 and from 2005 at the US Space and Rocket Centre in Huntsville in Alabama Now using the knowledge I gained whilst on those programmes along with experiences I have picked up in other areas I have worked to create my first work of literary fiction a story which is backed up by nearly 500 pieces of artwork I created to support the story
