The Mystic Will: A Method of Developing and Strengthening the Faculties of the Mind, through the Awakened Will by a Simple, Scientific Process Possible to Any Person of Ordinary Intelligence Charles Godfrey Leland, 2020-09-28 It happened recently to me as I write to see one afternoon lying on the side walk in the Via Calzaioli in Florence what I thought was a common iron screw about three inches in length which looked as if it had been dropped by some workman And recalling the superstition that it is lucky to find such an object or a nail I picked it up when to my astonishment I found that it was a silver pencil case but made to exactly resemble a screw Hundreds of people had perhaps seen it thought they knew all about it or what it was and then passed it by little suspecting its real value There is an exact spiritual parallel for this incident or parable of the screw pencil in innumerable ideas at which well nigh everybody in the hurrying stream of life has glanced yet no one has ever examined until someone with a poetic spirit of curiosity or inspired by quaint superstition pauses picks one up looks into it and finds that It has ingenious use and is far more than it appeared to be Thus if I declare that by special attention to a subject earnestly turning it over and thinking deeply into it very remarkable results may be produced as regards result in knowledge every human being will assent to it as the veriest truism ever uttered in the fullest belief that he or she assuredly knows all that Yet it was not until within a very few years that I discovered that this idea which seemed so commonplace had within it mysteries and meanings which were stupendously original or remarkable I found that there was a certain intensity or power of attention far surpassing ordinary observation which we may if we will summon up and force on ourselves just as we can by special effort see or hear far better at times than usually The Romans show by such a phrase as animum adjicere and numerous proverbs and synonyms that they had learned to bend their attention energetically They were good listeners therefore keen observers Learning to control or strengthen the Will is closely allied to developing Attention and Interest and for reasons which will soon be apparent I will first consider the latter since they constitute a preparation or basis for the former And as preliminary I will consider the popular or common error to the effect that everyone has allotted to him or to her just so much of the faculty of attention or interest as it has pleased Nature to give the same being true as regards Memory Will the Constructive or Artistic abilities and so on when in very truth and on the warrant of Experience all may be increased ad infinitum Therefore we find ignorant men complacently explaining their indifference to art and literature or culture on the ground that they take no interest in such subjects as if interest were a special heaven sent gift Who has not heard the remark He or she takes such an interest in so many things I wish that I could Or as I heard it very recently expressed It must be delightful to be able to interest one s self in something at any time Which was much the same as the expression of the Pennsylvania German girl Ach Gott I wisht I hat genius und could make a pudden

MYSTIC WILL CHARLES G. LELAND, 2018 The Mystic Will Charles Leland, 2022-07-31 The Mystic Will Charles Godfrey Leland, 2014-05-01 During the past few years the most serious part of the author's study and reflection has been devoted to the subjects discussed in this book. These, briefly stated, are as follows: Firstly, that all mental or cerebral faculties can, by direct scientific treatment, be influenced to what would have once been regarded as miraculous action, and which is even yet very little known or considered. Secondly, in development of this theory, and as confirmed by much practical and personal experience, that the Will can, by very easy processes of training or by aid of Auto-Suggestion, be strengthened to any extent, and states of mind soon induced which can be made by practice habitual. Thus, as a man can, by means of opium, produce sleep, so can he, by a very simple experiment a few times repeated, an experiment which I clearly describe, and which has been tested and verified beyond all denial, cause himself to remain during the following day in a perfectly calm or cheerful state of mind, and this condition may, by means of repetition and practice, be raised or varied to other states or conditions of a far more active or intelligent description.

Leland,2013-05-08 The idea of self help is a good one and when it is actually you who is doing the helping you can definitely improve your life But I am talking about helping yourself in the old fashioned way when you acknowledge your weaknesses recognize your mistakes and then try to do something about them This is the kind of help which requires self awareness self discipline self reliance and most of all daily effort True meaningful change only comes gradually But if you are able to commit yourself to some kind of genuine discipline you will definitely change your life for the better Which brings me to Charles Godfrey Leland s all but forgotten treatise on The Mystic Will He was a man of extraordinarily varied interests and apparently lived a full happy and successful life All his books make for interesting reading but none of them contain the life changing secret to be found in The Mystic Will Mysticism Evelyn Underhill,1919 Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Reports United States.
