Mythical Times:

Times of Security Martin Holbraad, Morten Axel Pedersen, 2013-06-07 In the current world disorder security is on everyone's lips. But what is security from a cross-cultural perspective? How is it imagined and experienced by people on the ground? Crucially, what visions of the future are at stake in people's potentially divergent concerns with security? What and when is the time of security? Exploring diverse notions and experiences of time involved in security practices across the globe, this volume brings together a selection of international scholars who conduct ethnographic research in a broad ambit of securitized contexts: from the experience of Palestinian detainees in Israel or forms of popular violence in Bolivia to efforts to normalize social relations in post-conflict Yugoslavia and ways of imagining threat in left radical protest movements in Northern Europe. Interrogating recent debates about the role of securitization in contemporary politics, the book paves the way for novel forms of security analysis at the crossroads between anthropology and political science, focusing on the comparative study of the temporalities of securitization in a multi-polar world. Offering a pioneering synthesis, the book will be of interest not only to anthropologists but also to students and scholars in political science and the growing field of Security Studies in International Relations.

Myth in History, Myth and History in Ancient Persia Reza Shaghaighi Zarghamee, 2025-06-30 This book fills an important gap in Achaemenid studies by using traditional Iranian narratives such as those found in the famous Shahnameh or Book of Kings of Ferdowsi to analyse the Greco-Roman accounts of Median and Persian royalty. The study shows that the classical authors derived their accounts from Iranian traditions grounded in age-old myths and legends. This analysis serves many purposes. It refines the extent to which the classical sources may be used in historical reconstructions and sheds new light on the literary methods of authors such as Herodotus, Ctesias, and Xenophon. Finally, the book offers insights into one of the thorniest enigmas in Iranian historiography: the apparent disappearance of illustrious rulers like Cyrus II, Darius I, and Xerxes I from native historical traditions. Standing at the crossroads of Iranian studies and Classics, this book is an indispensable source for scholars of ancient Iran, Greek historiography, and the Shahnameh.
