Naer Natueren Ghelike Vlaamse Miniaturen Voor Van Eyck:

Naer natueren ghelike Maurits Smeyers, Cultureel Centrum Romaanse Poort (Leuven), 1993 Petrus Christus Maryan W. Ainsworth, Maximiliaan P. J. Martens, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 1994 This study is an important new account of the life and work of the Flemish master Petrus Christus. It is the first volume to focus specifically on the physical characteristics of his works as criteria for judging attribution, dating and the extent to which he was indebted to Jan Van Eyck and other artists for the development of his technique and style The Robert Lehman Collection John Pope-Hennessy, 1987 The Prayer Book of Charles the Bold Antoine de Schryver, 2008 In January 1469 the accounts of Duke Charles the Bold of Burgundy reigned 1467-77 record a payment to the noted scribe Nicolas Spierinc for having written some prayers for my lord. Seven months later the same accounts record a payment to the illuminator Lievin van Lathern for twenty-five miniatures plus borders and decorated initials in the same manuscript. In this study the late Antoine de Schryver, an internationally renowned art historian, presents a thoroughly researched and balanced argument suggesting that the documents refer to the exquisite prayer book of Charles the Bold which can now be found in the collection of the J. Paul Getty Museum. book jacket Markets for Art, 1400-1800 Clara Eugenia Núñez, 1998 Analiza aspectos económicos del Arte, mercados, relación con la producción, el bienestar, precios, comercio, ventas, políticas, demandas de Cortes, etc. The Grove Encyclopedia of Medieval Art and Architecture Colum Hourihane, 2012 This volume offers unparalleled coverage of all aspects of art and architecture from medieval Western Europe from the 6th century to the early 16th century. Drawing upon the expansive scholarship in the celebrated Grove Dictionary of Art and adding hundreds of new entries, it offers students, researchers and the general public a reliable up-to-date and convenient resource covering this field of major importance in the development of Western history and international art and architecture Piety in Pieces Kathryn M. Rudy, 2016-09-26 Medieval manuscripts resisted obsolescence. Made by highly specialised craftspeople, scribes, illuminators, book binders, with labour-intensive processes using exclusive and sometimes exotic materials, parchment made from dozens or hundreds of skins, inks and paints made from prized minerals, animals and plants, books were expensive and built to last. They usually outlived their owners. Rather than discard them when they were superseded, book owners found ways to update, amend and upcycle books or book parts. These activities accelerated in the fifteenth century. Most manuscripts made before 1390 were bespoke and made for a particular client, but those made after 1390, especially books of hours, were increasingly made for an open market in which the producer was not in direct contact with the buyer. Increased efficiency led to more generic products which owners were motivated to personalise. It also led to more blank parchment in the book, for example the backs of inserted miniatures and the blank ends of textual components. Book buyers of the late fourteenth and throughout the fifteenth century still held onto the old connotations of manuscripts that they were custom-made luxury items, even when the production had become impersonal. Owners consequently purchased books made for an open market and then personalised.

them filling in the blank spaces and even adding more components later This would give them an affordable product but one that still smacked of luxury and met their individual needs They kept older books in circulation by amending them attached items to generic books to make them more relevant and valuable and added new prayers with escalating indulgences as the culture of salvation shifted Rudy considers ways in which book owners adjusted the contents of their books from the simplest add a marginal note sew in a curtain to the most complex take the book apart embellish the components with painted decoration add more quires of parchment By making sometimes extreme adjustments book owners kept their books fashionable and emotionally relevant This study explores the intersection of codicology and human desire Rudy shows how increased modularisation of book making led to more standardisation but also to more opportunities for personalisation She asks What properties did parchment manuscripts have that printed books lacked What are the interrelationships among technology efficiency skill loss and standardisation

Thresholds and Boundaries Lynn F. Jacobs, 2017-09-25 Although liminality has been studied by scholars of medieval and seventeenth century art the role of the threshold motif in Netherlandish art of the late fourteenth fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries this late medieval early early modern period has been much less fully investigated Thresholds and Boundaries Liminality in Netherlandish Art 1385 1550 addresses this issue through a focus on key case studies Sluter's portal of the Chartreuse de Champmol and the calendar pages of the Limbourg Brothers' Très Riches Heures and on important formats altarpieces and illuminated manuscripts Lynn F Jacobs examines how the visual thresholds established within Netherlandish paintings sculptures and manuscript illuminations become sites where artists could address relations between life and death aristocrat and peasant holy and profane and man and God and where artists could exploit the betwixt and between nature of the threshold to communicate paradoxically both connections and divisions between these different states and different worlds Building on literary and anthropological interpretations of liminality this book demonstrates how the exploration of boundaries in Netherlandish art infused the works with greater meaning The book's probing of the often ignored meanings of the threshold motif casts new light on key works of Netherlandish art
