David Herman,Manfred Jahn,Marie-Laure Ryan,2010-06-10 The past several decades have seen an explosion of interest in narrative with this multifaceted object of inquiry becoming a central concern in a wide range of disciplinary fields and research contexts As accounts of what happened to particular people in particular circumstances and with specific consequences stories have come to be viewed as a basic human strategy for coming to terms with time process and change However the very predominance of narrative as a focus of interest across multiple disciplines makes it imperative for scholars teachers and students to have access to a comprehensive reference resource     Theorizing Narrativity John Pier, José Angel Garcia Landa, 2011-09-20 Theorizing Narrativity is a collective work by an international array of leading specialists in narrative theory. It provides new perspectives on the nature of narrative genre theory narrative semiotics and communication theory. Most contributions center on the specificity of literary fiction but each chapter investigates a different dimension of narrativity with many issues dealt with in innovative ways including oral storytelling the law video games causality intertextuality and the theory of reading. There are chapters by Gerald Prince on narrativehood and narrativity, Meir Sternberg on the narrativity of the law code, Werner Wolf on chance and Peter Hahn on eventfulness in fiction, Jukka Tyrkkö on kaleidoscope narratives, Marie Laure Ryan on transfictionality and computer games, Ansgar Nünning and Roy Sommer as well as Monika Fludernik on the narrativity of drama, Beatriz Penas on non standard narrativities, David Rudrum on narrativity and performativity, Michael Toolan on textual guidance, John Pier on causality and retrospection and José Angel García Landa on retelling and represented narrations     Narrative Methods for Organizational & Communication Research David M. Boje, 2001-05-15 The book is a unique and excellent introduction to postmodern narrative analyses Organization Studies This book should succeed in putting the metaphorical cat amongst just about every metaphorical pigeon that might imaginably take flight within the organization and communication research arenas. Story time will never be the same again nor will interpretative research Stewart Clegg University of Technology Sydney Timely and first rate. It nicely stretches a reader's thinking about the topic Thomas Lee University of Washington School of Business David Boje is a pioneering theorist in organization studies and management. His book is yet another example of Boje's pioneering spirit and concern for exactitude. His scholarly account of narrative and antenarrative methods is both corrective and exploratory of how stories must be understood in terms of their own internal dynamics and not viewed as static entities. Boje's book is a magnificent start. A book that breaks new ground in organizational analysis this is a must read for researchers and practitioners in the fields of organization and management studies. Adrian Carr University of Western Sydney Boje masterfully shows how to analyze texts and ideas before they are reduced and fitted into the dominant ideological frameworks of the day. He provides a powerful tool for achieving greater democracy in how we approach doing social science and liberates our capacity to make meanings for ourselves. Paul Hirsch Northwestern University Kellogg Graduate School of Management This is an important book. It is a major methodological contribution to critical postmodern studies of organizations and management. It is essential reading for critical management scholars. Robert P. Gephart Jr University of Alberta School of Business David Boje has emerged as the leading postmodern thinker in management theory and organization science. His prolific output lights the path for others to follow in a field awakening to the challenge of postmodern critical theory. Updating and revising narrative theory for the prevailing postmodern condition Boje masterfully reconstructs the concepts and methods of storytelling as he subverts the dominant principles of modernist organization theory. He offers a subtle and complex notion of narrative. This impressive book should leave an indelible mark on management and organization studies Steven Best University of Texas El Paso An essential guide for academics and researchers needing to look at alternative discourse analysis strategies As a research tool narrative methods have become increasingly useful in organization studies where much research involves the interpretation of stories in some form This methodology can be applied where qualitative story analyses can help to assess interview newspaper or web document stories for research projects In this book Boje sets out eight analysis options that can deal with storytelling recognizing that stories in organizations can be self destructing flowing networking and not at all static In so doing he shows ways in which narrative methods can be supplemented by antenarrative methods where fragmented and collective storytelling can be interpreted A valuable resource that will be widely used in organizational or communications research for graduate level qualitative methods seminars and by researchers wanting to do story analysis David Boje is Professor at the New Mexico State University He is also on the editorial board of the journal Organization Storytelling In Daily Life Kristin Langellier, Eric Peterson, 2004-01-08 Storytelling is perhaps the most common way people make sense of their experiences claim identities and get a life So much of our daily life consists of writing or telling our stories and listening to and reading the stories of others But we rarely stop to ask what are these stories How do they shape our lives And why do they matter The authors ably guide readers through the complex world of performing narrative Along the way they show the embodied contexts of storytelling the material constraints on narrative performances and the myriad ways storytelling orders information and tasks constitutes meanings and positions speaking subjects Readers will also learn that narrative performance is consequential as well as pervasive as storytelling opens up experience and identities to legitimization and critique The authors multi leveled model of strategy and tactics considers how relations of power in a system are produced reproduced and altered in performing narrative The authors explain this strategic model through an extended discussion of family storytelling using Franco Americans in Maine as their exemplar They explore what stories families tell how they tell them and how storytelling creates family identities Then they show the range and reach of this strategic model by examining storytelling in diverse contexts a breast cancer narrative a weblog on the Internet and an autobiographical performance on the public stage Readers are left with a clear understanding of how and why the performance of narrative is the primary communicative practice shaping our lives today Storytelling for Media Joachim Friedmann, 2021 The term storytelling is gaining prominence both in academia and industry rightly so because narrative techniques allow for particularly effective and sustainable communication Stories are what catch our attention move us teach us to empathise and create strong memories This introduction to the strategies of storytelling uses fundamental scientific texts as well as dramaturgical guides and practical examples Dr Joachim Friedmann professor and writer of scripts for tv comics and games presents a both theoretically sound and practically applicable guide for the analysis and design of narratives in various media not only for students but for everyone who wants to understand how stories are created Narrative and Social Control Dennis K.

Mumby,1993-08-24 Readers will find Dennis K Mumby's collection most useful for the connections it establishes between narrative analysis in social setting and postmodern light. What is important about this book is the range of projects presented using narrative to examine issues of power and control. Discourse and Society. What is the relationship between narrative, society and the forms of control that function in society? This critical analysis examines the role of narrative in the creation of various social realities in a variety of communication contexts. The central theme of Narrative and Social Control is that narrative is a pervasive form of human communication that is integral to the production and shaping of social order. Each chapter provides both a theoretical framework and an examination of narratives in a range of communication contexts: interpersonal, small group, organizational and mass mediated, illustrating the far reaching impact of narrative on our lives and social organizations. This critical perspective is essential reading for scholars, students and professionals in communication studies, organization studies, family studies, cultural studies, sociology, political science, peace studies, anthropology, philosophy and gender studies.

Imagining New Normals: A Narrative Framework for Health Communication Lynn M Harter, Brittany Peterson, 1753

The End of Mark's Story Danove, 2022-07-04 This volume generates a narrative grammar which unites linguistic, structuralistic, rhetorical and reader response methods and then uses it to investigate the textual indicators for interpreting the ending of the Gospel of Mark. The first part of this book generates the narrative grammar in response to significant contemporary writings on methods of narrative analysis. The second part provides a detailed analysis of the Gospel's larger narrative units. The analysis isolates narrative units according to a consistent set of criteria grounds the interpretation on a limited number of qualifications of the implied reader. This indicates the centrality of the literary and rhetorical traditions of the Hebrew Bible for interpretation clarifies the model of irony used in the narrative and accounts for the negative presentation of the disciples on narrative grounds.

Interactive Storytelling Ido A Iurgel, Nelson Zagalo, Paolo Petta, 2009-11-24 The rich programme of ICIDS 2009 comprising invited talks, technical presentations and posters, demonstrations and co-located post conference workshops clearly underscores the event's status as premier international meeting in the domain. It thereby confirms the decision taken by the Constituting Committee of the conference series to take the step forward out of the national cocoons of its precursors ICVS and TIDSE and towards an itinerant platform reflecting its global constituency. This move reflects the desire and the will to take on the challenge to stay on the lookout critically reflecting upon and integrating views and ideas, findings and experiences and to promote interdisciplinary exchange while ensuring overall coherence and maintaining a sense of direction. This is a significant enterprise. The challenges sought are multifarious and must be addressed consistently at all levels. The desire to involve all research communities and stakeholders must be matched by acknowledging differences in established practices and by providing suitable means of guidance and induction, exposition and direct interaction at the event itself and of lasting and increasingly living documentation of which the present proceedings are but an important part.

Narrative Means to Journalistic

Ends Nora Berning, 2010-11-01 Nora Berning grasps the narrative potential of journalistic reportages via a set of narratological categories. Spurred by an interdisciplinary framework she builds on transgeneric narratological research and shows that journalistic reportages can be described, analyzed and charted with categories that originate in structuralist narratology. The author spells out minimal criteria for particular types of reportages and challenges the argument that journalism and literature have distinct, non-overlapping communicative goals. By showing that the reportage is a hybrid text type that seeks to inform, educate and entertain this study advances a re-conceptualization of journalism and literature as two fields with permeable borders.

On Message Zach Friend, 2013-09-17 In this era of information overload and real time communication where anyone can publish and broadcast to millions of people with the click of a button there is no shortage of people talking about the need to get their message across or having a narrative. But for business marketing and political campaigns there is no definitive how to on crafting a compelling narrative that achieves lasting results. Drawing on Zach Friend's own experience and insights from politics, advertising, corporate communications, entertainment and social psychology, On Message provides a simple process for applying the powerful principles behind crafting a narrative ultimately paving the path to success. Specifically readers will learn how to focus their communication efforts in a dramatically more powerful way on the most important factor: narrative. Master the mindset needed to become a better communicator and make a forceful impact on their audience and clients. Stop wasting time and energy gathering unnecessary facts and data that don't advance their message and get results faster by using narrative as a productive tool that will fuel success.

Anatomies of Narrative Criticism Tom Thatcher, Stephen D. Moore, 2008 Reflecting on the twenty fifth anniversary of Alan Culpepper's TM's milestone Anatomy of the Fourth Gospel (1983) Anatomies of Narrative Criticism explores current trends in the study of the Gospel of John as literature. The contributors to the volume represent a wide range of methodological approaches that all explore ways that contemporary readers generate meaning from John's TM's story of Jesus. The book includes an introduction to narrative critical studies of John, essays on specific themes and passages that focus on interpretation of the text, history of research, hermeneutical approaches and future trends in research and a reflective response from Alan Culpepper. Overall the book seeks to trace the history and project the future of the study of the Bible as narrative.
