Narrative Experiments The Discursive Authority Of Science And Technology:

Narrative Experiments Gayle L. Ormiston, Raphael Sassower, 1989 Narrative Experiments was first published in 1989 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions In Narrative Experiments Gayle Ormiston and Ralph Sassower bring a refreshing perspective to the domains of inquiry we call science and technology asserting that traditional definitions like classical idealism and materialism fail to suggest the rich and complex cultural linguistic interplay occurring between them This context is not merely a background nor is Ormiston and Sassower s just one more interdisciplinary approach to the subject Instead their book argues science technology and the humanities developed in concert with one another and their reciprocity obliterates all traditional disciplinary boundaries Ormiston and Sassower build their case by devoting a chapter to each of the four themes emerging from the etymological introduction First they look at the role fiction and other literary modes play in developing our attitudes toward science and technology how the visions of Bacon Hobbes Galileo Rousseau Mary Shelley and Orwell evoke both anxiety and hope Next they examine a series of eighteenth century fictions the Enlightenment texts of Kant Rousseau and Hume and the elevated but ambiguous status science and technology associated with them The last two chapters evaluate modes of discursive authority and its dissemination classical and modern extralinguistic approaches the contemporary linguistic view espoused by Rorty Quine and others and their own avowedly experimental journey through the labyrinths of cultural and linguistic usage From Artifact to Habitat Gayle L. Ormiston, 1990 Bringing together philosophy literary criticism and textual theory social and political theory and the philosophy of language and cognitive science this collection intends to establish an interpretive framework for exploring the ubiquity and mediacy of technology Imagenation José Van Dijck, 1998-01-31 Genetics seems more popular than ever DNA technology not only sustains large areas of biomedicine and business but also prevails in social and legal practices and takes root in cultural products Since the late 1950s the public image of genetics metamorphosed from a suspect branch of research into a thriving well funded field of biomedicine Images and imaginations have played a crucial role in the popularization of genetic knowledge The media played up images of engineered bugs scientists promoted images of selfish genes and science fiction writers infested the imagination with stories of cloned monsters Image nation examines the role of science journalism and fiction in the popularization of genetics Narrative in Health Care John D. Engel, 2008 The authors of this work a social scientist a physician executive a counselor and a nurse are the engineers of a shift in culture curriculum and practice at Summa Health System a large health system affiliated with the Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine Here they examine narrative healthcare practices within frameworks derived from the social sciences psychology phenomenology and autobiographical theory They relate the development of narrative medicine to relationship centered care arguing that narrative medicine can help physicians to develop the skills required to practice relationship centered care such as reading and telling complex stories writing reflectively compassionate presence and exercising the moral imagination Continental Philosophy in the 20th Century Richard Kearney, 2015-09-29 Continental philosophy is one of the twentieth century's most important and challenging philosophical movements This major volume includes fourteen chapters on its major representatives and schools including phenomenology existentialism and postmodernism Routledge History of Philosophy Volume VIII Richard Kearney, 2003-12-23 Continental philosophy as it has emerged in the twentieth century is less a seamless fabric than a patchquilt of diverse strands Phenomenology hermeneutics existentialism structuralism critical theory deconstruction these are some of the salient movements which have developed in continental Europe between 1900 and the 1990s though their influence is by no means confined to geographic location Continental thought has proved highly exportable circulating far beyond the frontiers of Europe to provoke strong responses in the intellectual world at large The fifteen articles in this volume outline and assess some of the issues and experiments of continental philosophy The first five span the twin movements of phenomenology and existentialism running from Husserl and Heidegger to Sartre Merleau-Ponty and Levinas Subsequent essays deal with specific currents of continental thought in such areas as science Marxism linguistics politics aesthetics feminism and hermeneutics A final chapter on postmodernism highlights the manner in which so many concerns of continental thought culminate in a radical anti-foundationalism This volume provides a broad scholarly introduction to this period for students of philosophy and related disciplines as well as some original interpretations of these authors It includes a glossary of technical terms and a chronological tube of philosophical scientific and other cultural events
