Narrative Desire And Historical Reparations:

Narrative Desire and Historical Reparations Timothy Gauthier, 2013-10-15 This book examines and explains the obsession with history in the contemporary British novel. It frames these historical novels as expressions of narrative desire, highlighting the reciprocal relationship between a desire to disclose and to rid ourselves of anxieties elicited by the past. Scrutinizing representative novels from Byatt, McEwan, and Rushdie, contemporary fiction is revealed as capable of advocating a viable ethical stance and as a form of authentic commentary. Our anxieties often exist in response to what might be perceived as the oppression or eradication of values, whether this is through the modern repudiation of Victorian principles. Byatt, the Western rethinking of Enlightenment narratives in light of the Holocaust, McEwan, or pluralism threatened by religious fundamentalism, Rushdie. Each of these novelists differentially employs postmodern artifice, sometimes as a way to reject the notion of historical construction, sometimes to advocate for it, but always to bring us closer to what the author believes are significant values and truths rather than relativism. The representative qualities of these novels serve to highlight themes, concerns, and anxieties present in many of the works of each author and, by extension, those of their contemporaries.

Narrative Desire and Historical Reparations Timothy S. Gauthier, 2003      Transnational Narratives in Englishes of Exile Catalina Florina Florescu, Sheng-mei Ma, 2017-11-15 Monolingual monolithic English is an issue of the past. In this collection, by using cinema, poetry, art, and novels, we demonstrate that English has become the heteroglossic language of immigration. Englishes of exile. By appropriating its plural form, we pay respect to all those who have been improving standard English, thus proving that one may be born in a language as well as give birth to a language or add to it one's own version. The story of the immigrant, refugee, exile, expatriate is everybody's story, and without migration, we could not evolve our human race.

Narrating the Past A. Robinson, 2011-10-04 In recent years, controversy has surrounded the narrative turn in history and the historical turn in fiction. This book clarifies what is at stake, tracing connections between historiography and life writing, arguing that the challenges posed in representing the past illuminate issues which are central to all literary narrative.

Ian McEwan's Atonement Julie Ellam, 2009-09-28 The Continuum Contemporaries series gives readers accessible and informative introductions to some of the most popular, most acclaimed, and most influential novels of recent years. This guide to Atonement features a biography of the author, a full-length analysis of the novel, a summary of the novel's popular and critical reception, a discussion of the recent film adaptation, and a great deal more. If you are studying this novel, reading it for your book club, or if you simply want to know more about it, you'll find this guide informative, intelligent, and helpful.

Ways of Being Free Adnan Mahmutović, 2012-01-01 Iconic migrant writers such as Michael Ondaatje, Salman Rushdie, and Ben Okri use their fictional worlds to articulate the ways in which existential nervous conditions caused by violent postcolonial history drive individuals to rework the critical notions of freedom, authenticity, and community. This existential thread in their works has been largely ignored or left undeveloped in criticism. Although Rushdie has argued that they primarily write back to the imperial centre s in their signature novels The English Patient Midnight s Children and The Famished Road they respond to their conflicting cultural and ethnic heritages by dramatizing characters in traumatic struggles with belonging and affiliation As a way of coping with their identity crises most characters succumb to the political rhetoric of communalism The central characters however are driven by a powerful desire for self sufficiency Yet since this individualism clashes with their need for communal sharing they enact a form of creative destruction of their singular selfhood and communal identity They experience a certain plurality of singular selfhood and participate in forms of inoperative communities which elicit bonds without ties and coexistence without the necessity of a common work and essence

Pride and Prejudice 2.0 Hanne Birk, Marion Gymnich, 2015-09-16 Austen s Pride and Prejudice has been adapted transformed and translated into numerous languages Thus the classic today constitutes an international transcultural transmedial and iconic phenomenon of pop culture that transcends genre boundaries as easily as centuries The vitality of the book at the crossroads of the literary canon and pop culture is analysed by contributions focusing on its translations Bollywood adaptations iconic TV versions or vlog adaptations on erotic rewritings or generic transformations into Chick Lit crime fiction or the Gothic mode on teaching contexts or on a diachronic analysis of its illustrations Complemented by a compilation of student essays this volume affirms and celebrates Pride and Prejudice being perhaps more alive than ever before

Reparations Jon Miller, Rahul Kumar, 2007 From civilian victims of war in Iraq and South America to descendents of slaves in the US to indigenous people around the world these groups and their advocates are arguing for the importance of addressing historical injustices This volume aims to contribute to these debates by examining four types of reparations claims

The Contemporary British Historical Novel Mariadele Boccardi, 2009-06-25 The Contemporary British Historical Novel is the first full length study of a genre that has had increasing critical attention and popular appeal at the turn of the twenty first century The book combines a contextual and theoretical framework for the success of historical fiction in Britain in the last forty years with detailed analysis of thirteen novels from well known examples of the genre such as The French Lieutenant s Woman and Possession to very recent works including Philip Hensher s The Mulberry Empire and James Robertson s Joseph Knight Boccardi discusses the contemporary British historical novel in relation to questions of national identity in the aftermath of the past particularly in the form of heritage and as a complex representative of postmodernism in fiction
