Media & Culture with 2015 Update Richard Campbell,Christopher R. Martin,Bettina Fabos,2014-03-31 The media are in a constant state of change accelerated by the recent turn in digital technology The new 2015 update of Media and Culture keeps up with the newest changes unfolding over YouTube Twitter Facebook and other feeds because the speed of today s media stories requires an understanding of the complex connections between media and our culture The 2015 update includes the latest media developments and coverage of the political economic and cultural issues affecting our mass media and culture But the authors go beyond the addition of current events and trends to focus on what these changes mean extending the bridge between media history and the media right now

"Everybody's Socializing" Michael Cyrus Abadi, 2003 Discourse Theory and Cultural Analysis Nico

Carpentier, Erik Spinoy, 2008 This book fills the gap between discourse theory and cultural approaches and provides an innovative and interdisciplinary contribution to areas such as cultural studies political science literary art communication and media studies the Internet and film studies By strictly focusing on the discourse theory of Laclau and Mouffe the authors have distilled a coherent volume out of a diversity of perspectives that offer important contributions to a wide range of academic discussions fields and disciplines

Communicating War Sarah Maltby, Richard Keeble, 2007 Wars are now mediated in unprecedented ways and through a variety of communicative forms Correspondingly there is an increasing awareness among those involved in war of the need to gauge and manage what is communicated Communicating War Media Memory and Military contextualises these developments by locating the emergence of recent wars and terrorist activity in a wider frame of global socio political change highlighting the social political and historical aspects of communicating war This includes the remembering and forgetting of wars through cultures of collective memory and media selectivity the organization practice and culture of media institutions in the mediation of war information and the strategic use of information by military institutions and terrorist organizations in the execution of war and terrorist acts Remaining sensitive to the complexities of conflict the book moves beyond a focus on UK and US interventions and reflects upon the communication of war in relation to all forms of conflict particularly terrorism and under reported civil conflicts Adopting a multi disciplinary approach Communicating War Media Military will be of interest to students in journalism media war and peace studies international relations and international politics Contributors include practitioners from within the journalistic and military communities and international scholars from a broad range of social sciences Stuart Allan David Altheide Chris Atton Oliver Boyd Barrett Nico Carpentier Neal Curtis Richard Keeble Andrew Hoskins Makram Khoury Machool Sarah Maltby Donald Matheson Lara Pawson Ron Schleifer Martin Shaw Angus Taverner John Tulloch Howard Tumber and Jeremy Tunstall REVIEWERS COMMENTS Few topics of media research affect us more personally and emotionally than how media represents war and the military's partly hidden role in that process Communicating War is a wide ranging and important contribution to that debate which also has the advantage of being right up to date Essential reading Nick Couldry Professor of Media and Communications Goldsmiths University of London We live in an age where the relationship between war and communications media is more complex and more urgent than ever before Communicating War is therefore to be welcomed Its rich collection sets the agenda as does the War and Media Network from which it emerges Crucially the collection reminds us of that which is forgotten which can be as important in the war media relationship today as those things embedded in memory James Gow Professor of International Peace and Security Kings College London A timely and hugely valuable contribution to the scholarly literature on news about conflict and war The range of contributors and the variety of themes covered make this collection essential reading for students and researchers of conflict reporting in the post 9 11 world Brian McNair Professor of Journalism and Communication University of Strathclyde Communicating War is a timely collection of great diversity bringing both historical depth and theoretical sophistication to a range of urgent contemporary debates about the media's role in war Philip Hammond Reader in Media and Communications London South Bank University

Dialogues Gary Goshgarian, Kathleen Krueger, Janet B. Minc, 2005-07 Dialogues represents argument not as a battle to be won but as a process of dialogue and deliberation the exchange of opinions and ideas among people with different values and perspectives Part One contains succinct instruction on analyzing and developing arguments including critical reading source documentation and analyzing visual arguments Part Two updated with many new readings addressing current issues offers a diverse collection of provocative essays from both the popular and scholarly medium The lucid lively and engaging writing addresses students as writers and thinkers without overwhelming them with unnecessary jargon or theory Plaridel, 2004
