Lightning Gods and Feathered Serpents Rex Koontz, 2010-01-01 El Taj n an ancient Mesoamerican capital in Veracruz Mexico has long been admired for its stunning pyramids and ballcourts decorated with extensive sculptural programs Yet the city s singularity as the only center in the region with such a wealth of sculpture and fine architecture has hindered attempts to place it more firmly in the context of Mesoamerican history In Lightning Gods and Feathered Serpents Rex Koontz undertakes the first extensive treatment of El Taj n s iconography in over thirty years allowing us to view its imagery in the broader Mesoamerican context of rising capitals and new elites during a period of fundamental historical transformations Koontz focuses on three major architectural features the Pyramid of the Niches Central Plaza ensemble the South Ballcourt and the Mound of the Building Columns complex and investigates the meanings of their sculpture and how these meanings would have been experienced by specific audiences Koontz finds that the iconography of El Taj n reveals much about how motifs and elite rites growing out of the Classic period were transmitted to later Mesoamerican peoples as the cultures centered on Teotihuacan and the Maya became the myriad city states of the Early Postclassic period By reexamining the iconography of sculptures long in the record as well as introducing important new monuments and contexts Lightning Gods and Feathered Serpents clearly demonstrates El Taj n s numerous iconographic connections with other areas of Mesoamerica while also exploring its roots in an indigenous Gulf lowlands culture whose outlines are only now emerging At the same time it begins to uncover a largely ignored regional artistic culture of which Taj n is the crowning achievement

Pre-Columbian Landscapes of Creation and Origin John Staller, 2008-03-12 Pre Columbian Andean and Mesoamerican cultures have inspired a special fascination among historians anthropologists archaeologists as well as the general public As two of the earliest known and studied civilizations their origin and creation mythologies hold a special interest The existing and Pre Columbian cultures from these regions are particularly known for having a strong connection with the natural landscape and weaving it into their mythologies A landscape approach to archaeology in these areas is uniquely useful shedding insight into their cultural beliefs practices and values The ways in which these cultures imbued their landscape with symbolic significance influenced the settlement of the population the construction of monuments as well as their rituals and practices This edited volume combines research on Pre Columbian cultures throughout Mesoamerica and South America examining their constructed monuments and ritual practices It explores the foundations of these cultures through both the creation mythologies of ancient societies as well as the tangible results of those beliefs It offers insight on specific case studies combining evidence from the archaeological record with sacred texts and ethnohistoric accounts The patterns developed throughout this work shed insight on the effect that perceived sacredness can have on the development of culture and society This comprehensive and much needed work will be of interest to archaeologists and anthropologists focused on Pre Columbian studies as well as those in the fields of cultural or religious studies with a broader geographic focus concept as a whole was affected by the Mexica conceptual system the way the Mexica saw their world rooted in the connections they believed existed between themselves and those who established earlier Central Mexican civilizations
