Annual Report Institut français de recherche pour l'exploitation de la mer, 1998 Portuguese for Spanish speakers Antônio R. M. Simões, Ana Maria Carvalho, Lyris Wiedemann, 2004 Comprehending and Mastering African Conflicts Adebayo Adedeji, 1999-06-30 More and more African countries are falling prey to civil war and the disintegration of government authority and social order. Here for the first time teams of African scholars actually based in the countries principally affected examine what is happening. Their first aim has been to understand the complex and diverse roots of these conflicts. To this end they analyse the conflicts in Angola, Burundi and Rwanda, Liberia and Sierra Leone, Somalia and Somaliland. They also reflect on the general obstacles to comprehending conflict in Africa. Possible ways of anticipating, containing and indeed preventing new conflicts are discussed as are the experiences of successful transitions to peace in Northern Mali and post civil war Nigeria. Proposals for mastering conflict in future range over a wide diversity of ideas like a moratorium on the importation of arms, trans frontier development projects, political reform, creating real space for participation by different social groups and governmental decentralisation. This timely volume is a significant contribution by African intellectuals to resolving the most intractable problems confronting Sub Saharan Africa Books in Print, 1991

The Great Tech Game Anirudh Suri, 2022-02-21 After agriculture, trade, industrialization, colonization and capitalism, technology is arguably the next big shaper of geopolitics in the world. It is increasingly a major determinant of the destiny of nations today and is creating a new set of winners and losers on the global stage. In The Great Tech Game the author provides a coherent framework outlining the key drivers that will determine the ability of a nation to succeed in this technology dominant era. He lays out a roadmap for how any country must develop its own strategic plan for success. Leaders must inculcate a new set of capabilities to understand and take advantage of these trends and create enabling environments for their nations to not be left behind. A particularly challenging aspect will be the ability of countries to define and manage the roles of state and non-state actors in a global race for technological leadership and success. The book goes on to evaluate whether digital colonialism is an inevitable reality or whether new frameworks will emerge to govern relationships between technology rich and technology poor nations.
