The Silver Box Margi Preus,2020-10-06 In the final Enchantment

Lake mystery Francie s search for the truth about her mother and herself plunges her into danger during a North Woods winter When she wakes in her aunts cold cabin on the shore of Enchantment Lake Francie remembers everything about her life has changed Or is about to Or just might Everything depends on the small engraved silver box that she now possesses if only she can follow its cryptic clues to the whereabouts of her missing mother and understand finally just maybe the truth about who she really is Francie it turns out has a lot to learn and this time the lessons could be deadly Her search for answers takes her and her best friends Raven and Jay as far afield as an abandoned ranch in Arizona and as close to home as a sketchy plant collector's conservatory and a musty old museum where shadows lurk around every display case. At the heart of it all is a crime that touches her own adopted North Woods: thieves dig up fragile lady's slippers, peel bark from birches, strip moss off trees, cut down entire forests of saplings to sell for home decor. But Francie is up against no ordinary plant theft. One ominous clue after another reveals that she possesses something so rare and so valuable that some people are willing to do anything to get it. When Francie's investigation leads her into the treacherously cold and snowy North Woods, she finds out that she too is being pursued.

Houses of Glass Georg Kohlmaier, Barna von Sartory, 1991. The glasshouses of the nineteenth century represent a remarkable confluence of opposites in architecture and technology. The architecture was designed to create an artificial climate in which people could return to paradise and yet the technical means employed were also basic to the century's developing industrial grime, the other side of paradise. Enriched by more than 700 illustrations, Houses of Glass chronicles these pristine structures as they evolved from hothouses into exhibition halls, ballrooms, and theaters. Georg Kohlmaier is an architect and Barna von Sartory a sculptor. They have collaborated on many books and articles on contemporary architecture.

Keaton V. Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, 1962

Do Something Guy Trebay, 2024-06-25. An evocative coming of age memoir, the story of the education of a wayward wild child and acidhead who, searching for meaning and purpose, found refuge in the demimonde of the ruined but magical metropolis that was New York City in the 1970s. In his beautiful memoir Do Something, Guy Trebay paints a picture of a vanished pre-AIDS Gotham that's both gritty and dazzling. The New York Times Book Review: Born in the Bronx, Guy Trebay was raised in an atmosphere of privilege on Long Island's North Shore, after his entrepreneurial father struck business gold with Hawaiian Surf, a wildly successful cologne company that capitalized on the optimism of the 1960s as marketed to an adventurous new breed of men. But behind the facade of material prosperity lay the emotional disarray of a household dominated by a charismatic con artist father, a glamorous yet lost and careless mother, a family haunted by tragedy. By the time Trebay established a foothold at the fringes of Andy Warhol's Factory and the diverse artistic tribes that thrived in Manhattan in that pre-digital era, his father had lost his fortune, his younger sister had been arrested for armed robbery, and fled underground; the family house was in ashes and his mother was dead. Unschooled and on his own, Trebay became a striver, wending his way through a seemingly apocalyptic landscape populated by a vibrant cast of characters including washed-up Hollywood screenwriters of the 30s, Warhol superstars like Jackie Curtis and Candy Darling, fashion geniuses like Charles James, and emerging artists, filmmakers, writers, designers, photographers, and deejays who would powerfully influence mainstream culture in the decades to come.
