Paper Shadows A Chinatown Childhood:

Paper Shadows Wayson Choy, 1999 Paper Shadows Wayson Choy, 2005 In 1995 during the publicity tour for his much acclaimed first novel The Jade Peony Wayson Choy received a mysterious phone call from a woman claiming to have just seen his mother on a streetcar He politely informed the caller that she must be mistaken since his mother had died long ago No no not that mother the voice insisted Your real mother Inspired by the startling realization that like many children of Chinatown he had been adopted Choy constructs a vivid and moving memoir that reveals uncanny similarities between his award winning first novel and the newly discovered secrets of his Vancouver childhood From his early experiences with ghosts through his youthful encounters with cowboys and bachelor uncles to his discovery of family secrets that crossed the ocean from mainland China to Gold Mountain in the form of paper shadows this is a beautifully wrought portrait of a child's world from one of Canada's most gifted storytellers Paper Shadows Wayson Choy, 2001-10-05 From the author of the popular and widely acclaimed novel The Jade Peony comes this new autobiographical exploration of past and present culture and selfhood history and memory immigration and family life in other words the modern day collision of Eastern and Western experiences and worldviews Three weeks before his 57th birthday Choy discovered that he had been adopted This astonishing revelation inspires the beautifully wrought sensitively told Paper Shadows the story of a Chinatown past both lost and found From his early life amid the ghosts of old Chinatown to his discovery years later of deeply held family secrets that crossed the ocean from mainland China to Gold Mountain this engrossing multi layered self portrait is a childhood memoir of crystalline clarity The Boston Globe that will speak directly and arrestingly to all students of Chinese immigrant history

Paper Shadows Wayson Choy, 2018-03-06 In 1995 during the publicity tour for his much acclaimed first novel The Jade Peony Wayson Choy received a mysterious phone call from a woman claiming to have just seen his mother on a streetcar He politely informed the caller that she must be mistaken since his mother had died long ago No no not that mother the voice insisted Your real mother Inspired by the startling realization that like many children of Chinatown he had been adopted Choy constructs a vivid and moving memoir that reveals uncanny similarities between his award winning first novel and the newly discovered secrets of his Vancouver childhood From his early experiences with ghosts through his youthful encounters with cowboys and bachelor uncles to his discovery of family secrets that crossed the ocean from mainland China to Gold Mountain in the form of paper shadows this is a beautifully wrought portrait of a child's world from one of Canada's most gifted storytellers Diasporas: Revisiting and Discovering , 2020-05-18 The present book brings together a collection of key studies from many disciplines all focusing around the diaspora issue The readers will engage on a journey that spans continents populations and time frames Begin Here Rocio G. Davis, 2007-01-31 An analytically innovative work Begin Here widens the current critical focus of Asian North American literary studies by proposing an integrated thematic and narratological approach to the practice of autobiography It demonstrates how Asian North American memoirs of childhood challenge the construction and performative potential of national experiences This understanding influences theoretical approaches to ethnic life writing expanding the boundaries of traditional autobiography by negotiating narrative techniques and genre and raising complex questions about self representation and the construction of cultural memory By examining the artistic project of some fifty Asian North American writers who deploy their childhood narratives in the representation of the individual processes of self identification and negotiation of cultural and national affiliation this work provides a comprehensive overview of Asian North American autobiographies of childhood published over the last century Importantly it also attends to new ways of writing autobiographies employing comics blending verse prose diaries and life writing for children and using relational approaches to self identification among others Freedom to Play Norah L.

Lewis,2010-09-29 When we were children we made our own fun is a frequent comment from those who were children in pre television times But what games activities and amusements did children enjoy prior to the mid 1950s Recollections of older Canadians selections from writings by Canadian authors and letters written to the children s pages of agricultural publications indicate that for most children play was then as now an essential part of childhood Through play youngsters developed the physical mental and emotional skills that helped them cope with life and taught them to get along with other children In both rural and urban settings children were generally free to explore their environment They were sent outdoors to play by both parents and teachers Their games were generally self organized and physically active with domestic animals acting as important companions and playmates Children frequently made their own toys and equipment and since playing rather than winning was important most children were included in games Special days holidays and organizations for children and youth provided welcome breaks from daily routines Their lives were busy but there was always time for play always time for fun Norah Lewis has provided an entertaining view of the toys games and activities in Canada and pre confederate Newfoundland from approximately 1900 through 1955 Her book will be of interest to historians educators and sociologists as well as anyone who lived through or wants to know more about those early years in Canada and the games children used to play Asian American Literature Keith Lawrence,2021-08-25 Asian American Literature An

Encyclopedia for Students is an invaluable resource for students curious to know more about Asian North American writers texts and the issues and drives that motivate their writing This volume collects in one place a breadth of information about Asian American literary and cultural history as well as the authors and texts that best define it A dozen contextual essays introduce fundamental elements or subcategories of Asian American literature expanding on social and literary concerns or tensions that are familiar and relevant Essays include the origins and development of the term Asian American overviews of Asian American and Asian Canadian social and literary histories essays on Asian American identity gender issues and sexuality and discussions of Asian American rhetoric and children s literature More than 120 alphabetical entries round out the volume and cover important Asian North American authors Historical information is presented in clear and engaging ways and author entries emphasize biographical or textual details that are significant to contemporary young adults. Special attention has been given to pioneering authors from the late 19th century through the early 1970s and to influential or well known contemporary authors especially those likely to be studied in high school or university classrooms. Beyond Imagined Uniqueness William Glass, 2010-08-11 Beyond Imagined Uniqueness Nationalisms in Comparative Perspectives is a collection of essays from a variety of disciplines and theoretical perspectives that explore the contentious issue of nationalism in historical and contemporary settings. They adopt an interdisciplinary approach to the topic of nationalism and its permutations and modes of expression. The unspoken context of these essays is the trends subsumed under the processes of globalization. Though the world may be becoming more integrated economically, these essays suggest social, cultural, and political forces historically rooted keep the nation and national identity alive and well. The comparative perspectives offered by the essays appear in two ways: one set is the explicit comparisons of nations made by several authors within their essays and between the essays themselves when the authors focus on developments within a single nation. A second and indeed more thought provoking set of comparisons come from the way the essays address nationalism in disparate scholarly approaches that include visual culture, history, sociology, and literature. Moreover, while traditional themes in the study of nationalism are not ignored, these essays expand the discussion with case studies of nationalism in Turkey, Asia, and Eastern Europe. Even when nationalism is considered in those areas that have been the central focus of nationalism studies, Western Europe and the USA, the authors bring unique voices to the conversation as in the use of portraiture as a vehicle of nationalism in Cold War America or children's literature shaping a Swedish American identity or in the idea of a covenant as a source of Dutch nationalism or the role of minority languages in West European societies. Section One of this volume contains essays that examine the terrain of the national imaginary through language, monuments, and visual culture. Several of the essays in this traverse the cultural sites of representation and commemoration of the nation, looking carefully at the politics of memory in places, material objects, and texts. Section Two provides more individual case studies of nations though many of these essays engage significant regional and international tensions especially in a post Cold War world that has often influenced the internal dynamics of nation building. Section Three moves the focus away from the nation to immigrant communities especially those in the United States, Canada, and the Caribbean. Diasporas throughout the world have challenged many theories about the nation as crossing borders becomes the norm rather than the exception. The Jade Peony Wayson Choy, 2009-12-01 Three siblings tell the stories of their very different childhoods in Vancouver's Chinatown before and during World War II. All That Matters Wayson Choy, 2011-09-28 Set in Vancouver's Chinatown in the 1930s and 1940s, Choy continues the story of the Chen family household this time narrated by First Son Kiam Kim. We first meet Kiam Kim at the age of eight staring at the yellowed photograph of his mother who died in China when he was just a baby. Kiam Kim, Poh Poh, his larger than life grandmother, and Mr. Chen, his demure and honest father, journey to a new life in Vancouver's

Old Chinatown Following the dream of finding gold and then one day returning to China wealthy they like many Chinese families around them find themselves in a country on the brink of the Second World War struggling to survive in a foreign land and keep alive the traditions of an older world Finely crafted and rich in historical detail All That Matters depicts 1930s Vancouver in the haunting hues of memory and sees in the Chen family a fragile miniature of a larger world Dwelling on Kiam Kim s sense of responsibility to his community Choy unfolds the Chen family s secrets in thoughtful and luminous prose leading the reader to a breathtaking conclusion that far transcends the limits of its time and place and gestures towards all humanity
