

Muhammad Ali, born Cassius Marcellus Clay Jr. on January 17, 1942, was an American professional boxer and one of the most significant figures in the history of the sport. He is widely regarded as one of the greatest boxers of all time and is known for his exceptional skills, charisma, and outspoken personality.

Ali began his professional boxing career in the 1960s and quickly rose to prominence. He won the Olympic gold medal in the light heavyweight division at the 1960 Rome Olympics and turned professional later that year. Ali became the undisputed heavyweight champion of the world in 1964 when he defeated Sonny Liston at the age of 22, becoming the youngest boxer at that time to accomplish that feat.

Throughout his career, Ali was known for his unique fighting style, characterized by his speed, agility, and ability to "float like a butterfly, sting like a bee." He had exceptional footwork and reflexes, which allowed him to evade punches while delivering lightning-fast counterattacks. Ali's boxing career featured numerous memorable fights, including his historic trilogy with Joe Frazier and his "Rumble in the Jungle" bout against George Foreman in 1974.

Beyond his boxing achievements, Muhammad Ali also made a significant impact on society and became a symbol of resistance, activism, and social justice. He famously opposed the Vietnam War and refused to be drafted into the military, citing his religious and personal beliefs. This decision led to a legal battle and a temporary suspension of his boxing license. Ali's stance against the war and his willingness to sacrifice his boxing career for his convictions made him an influential figure in the civil rights and anti-war movements of the era.

Muhammad Ali retired from boxing in 1981, finishing his career with a record of 56 wins (including 37 knockouts)
