Multiple Intelligences Kindergarten:

Seven Windows to a Child's World Anna T. O'Connor, Sheila Callahan-Young, 1994-01-01 While traditional schooling has focused mainly on math and linguistic skills psychologist Howard Gardner suggests that there are at least five additional ways of learning. This curriculum guide applies Gardner's theory of multiple intelligences to the kindergarten class providing teachers with a practical thematic approach that will challenge children's thinking. The five units include three lessons for each of the intelligences: linguistic, logical, mathematical, spatial, artistic, inter and intra personal, social, spatial, assembly, bodily, kinesthetic, and musical. Some lessons include homework designed to strengthen the communication between home and school and some include designated portfolio samples with format suggestions for collection throughout the school year. The five units are 1. Self, 2. Fall, 3. Day/Night, 4. Winter, and 5. Castles. Each unit includes a bibliography.

Multiple Intelligences in the Classroom Thomas Armstrong, 2009 To respect the many differences between people this is what Howard Gardner says is the purpose of learning about multiple intelligences. MI theory which holds that the human mind is composed of eight intelligences: linguistic, logical, mathematical, spatial, bodily, kinesthetic, musical, interpersonal, intrapersonal, and naturalistic plus a possible ninth existential. This updated 3rd edition of Multiple Intelligences in the Classroom Thomas Armstrong's bestselling practical guide for educators includes two new chapters that address the worldwide reach of MI and rebut some common criticisms of the theory. This new edition includes updated information and resources throughout the text to help educators at all levels apply MI theory to curriculum development, lesson planning, assessment, special education, cognitive skills, educational technology, career development, educational policy, and more. The book includes dozens of practical tips, strategies, and examples from real schools and districts. Armstrong provides tools, resources, and ideas that educators can immediately use to help students of all ages achieve their fullest potential in life.

Tales of Thinking Paul Carreiro, 1998 When are you going to teach me something? A provocative question from Caroline, one of the children you will meet in Paul Carreiro's story of how he has incorporated Howard Gardner's work on multiple intelligences in his busy kindergarten classroom. Focusing on his current students, he also looks back at the other elementary level children he has worked with, including special needs students. Paul describes how he has constructed a workable framework for approaching any topic or curriculum in a way that accommodates a range of intelligences. You will find answers to the questions he has posed for himself: How can I get the most thinking from the simplest everyday acts of teaching? How can I develop thinking in the broadest range of learners? How can I teach so that all children perceive themselves as thinkers? How can I use the electronic media to develop and extend thinking? The heart of the book deals with the entry points Gardner has nominated as being useful in approaching any topic. In concise chapters, Paul describes the specific and practical strategies he has developed that demonstrate ways in which children can and do think when prompted by appropriate teacher challenges. Tales of Thinking includes material related to the newly nominated naturalist intelligence and discusses the use of the portfolio process.

with young children has many examples of recognizing and extending thinking from media saturated children expands your understanding of the scope of Gardner's work provides examples of teaching strategies to accommodate intelligences in your classroom offers evidence of how negotiated curricula can work even in a crowded curriculum models the process and practice of authentic teacher inquiry Find out how dance took over a kindergarten class Listen in as children consider whether their teacher is an alien Observe the learning that takes place as children learn to talk mathematically By relating these and many other tales of thinking from children and classrooms past and present Paul Carreiro demonstrates how capable children are of choosing their own paths to learning and understanding
