Monasteriales Indicia Debby Banham, 1991 The Monasteriales Indicia is one of very few texts which let us see how life was really lived in monasteries in the early Middle Ages Written in Old English and preserved in a manuscript of the mid eleventh century it consists of 127 signs used by Anglo Saxon monks during the times when the Benedictine Rule forbade them to speak These indicate the foods the monks ate the clothes they wore and the books they used in church and chapter as well as the tools they used in their daily life and persons they might meet both in the monastery and outside Thus the text gives a fascinating insight into how monks dealt with the conditions of their life nearly a thousand years ago The text is printed here with a parallel translation to enable non specialists to make their own informed assessment The introduction gives a summary of the background both historical and textual as well as a brief look at the later evidence for monastic sign language in England Extensive notes provide the reader with details of textual relationships explore problems of interpretation and set out the historical implications of the text
