Mental Health of Children and

Adolescents with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities David Dosetor, Donna White, Lesley Whatson, 2011-06-01

Children and adolescents with intellectual and developmental disabilities are at high risk of co-morbid emotional, behavioural and psychiatric problems that may further reduce their functional abilities. For the clinicians who support them and their families, meeting the needs of children and adolescents with intellectual and developmental disabilities and mental health problems is challenging. In this book, clinicians who work with young people with intellectual and developmental disabilities and mental health problems will find a comprehensive framework for how their complex needs might best be addressed. Relevant biological, developmental, family, educational, social and cultural factors are integrated. The evolution of developmental sequence is seen as vital to understanding the mental health problems of young people with disabilities. This view informs multi-dimensional assessment of behaviour and addresses conceptual confusion in defining behaviour problems, developmental disorders, mental disorders and serious mental illnesses. Evidence-based interventions to promote skill development and mental health in young people with disabilities are described. A model for how interdisciplinary and multi-agency collaboration and co-ordination might be facilitated is outlined. Parents' perspectives are also presented. Fundamentally, though this is a book by clinicians for clinicians, all clinicians and other professionals who work to improve mental health outcomes and quality of life more generally for young people who have intellectual and developmental disabilities, paediatricians, child psychiatrists, psychologists, speech pathologists, occupational therapists, social workers, behaviour clinicians, counsellors, teachers, agency managers, among others, will find the book invaluable.
