Matthew Smith His Life And Reputation:

The Real and the Romantic Frances Spalding, 2022-07-07 The 21st century has seen a surge of interest in English art of the interwar years. Women artists such as Winifred Knights, Frances Hodgkins and Evelyn Dunbar have come to the fore while familiar names Paul Nash, Eric Ravilious and Stanley Spencer have reached new audiences. High profile exhibitions have attracted record-breaking visitor numbers and challenged received opinion. In The Real and the Romantic Frances Spalding, one of Britain's leading art historians and critics, takes a fresh and timely look at this rich period in English art. The devastation of the First World War left the art world decentred and directionless. This book is about its recovery. Spalding explores how exciting new ideas co-existed with a desire for continuity and a renewed interest in the past. We see the challenge to English artists represented by Cézanne and Picasso and the role played by museums and galleries in this period. Women artists, writers and curators contributed to the emergence of a new avant-garde. The English landscape was revisited in modern terms. The 1930s marked a high point in the history of modernism in Britain but the mood darkened with the prospect of a return to war. The former advance towards abstraction and internationalism was replaced by a renewed concern with history, place, memory and a sense of belonging. Native traditions were revived in modern terms but in ways that also let in the past. Surrealism further disturbed the ascetic purity of high modernism and fed into the British love of the strange. Throughout these years the pursuit of the real was set against and sometimes merged with an inclination towards the romantic as English artists sought to respond to their subjects and their times.

Catalogue Raisonné of the Oil

Paintings of Matthew Smith John Gledhill, 2009 Matthew Smith (1879–1959) is one of the most important British painters of the twentieth century. This book provides for the first time a catalogue of the oil paintings by Matthew Smith from 1905 to 1957 and a substantial critical reappraisal of the artist's work. Gledhill situates the artist in the context of modernism and his Bloomsbury peers and the London Group. Provenance, exhibition catalogues and literature are brought together in extensively detailed entries. Where possible an illustration of each work is provided and the majority of the paintings are illustrated to assist the scholar who, up until now, has been confronted with a dearth of information on Matthew Smith.

Matthew Smith Malcolm Yorke, 1997 Although he died more than forty years ago, this is the first full-scale biography of Matthew Smith, one of the most original English figurative painters of the century. He was, in his lifetime, frequently but mistakenly seen as an English Fauve or as a disciple of Matisse, but in fact he evolved his own distinctive style independently from anything he had seen in English art schools or the French galleries. Smith was the son of a rich and cultured Yorkshire manufacturer but soon felt impelled to rebel against the Victorian taste of his father and his class. He failed to impress tutors at the Slade, went to France to see what the modern movements there had to offer and then returned to mingle in the circles round Sickert and Fry. His grim experiences in World War 1 forced him to sort out his priorities, both as a man and an artist. Eventually a passionate love affair in middle age enabled him to establish his own uniquely turbulent style and subject matter of still lifes landscapes and uninhibited nudes Augustus John and Epstein were close friends as were many other literary and artistic figures in Paris Provence and London He was shaken by personal tragedies but well into old age he seemed able to attract the love of cultivated and attractive younger women There have been several retrospective exhibitions since his death in 1959 notably at the Royal Academy and twice at the Barbican Dr Yorke's detailed biography traces the life and reputation of this unassuming man who spoke like an intelligent moth but who produced pictures of such rich colour and extrovert handling that they have no parallels in the history of English painting
