The Age Darling Richard Rodriguez, 2013-10-03 An award winning writer delivers a major reckoning with religion place and sexuality in the aftermath of 9/11 Hailed in The Washington Post as one of the most eloquent and probing public intellectuals in America Richard Rodriguez now considers religious violence worldwide growing public atheism in the West and his own mortality Rodriguez's stylish new memoir the first book in a decade from the Pulitzer Prize finalist moves from Jerusalem to Silicon Valley from Moses to Liberace from Lance Armstrong to Mother Teresa Rodriguez is a homosexual who writes with love of the religions of the desert that exclude him He is a passionate unorthodox Christian who is always mindful of his relationship to Judaism and Islam because of a shared belief in the God who revealed himself within an ecology of emptiness And at the center of this book is a consideration of women their importance to Rodriguez s spiritual formation and their centrality to the future of the desert religions Only a mind as elastic and refined as Rodriguez s could bind these threads together into this wonderfully complex tapestry

All the Pasha's Men Khaled Fahmy,1997-11-13 While previous scholarship has viewed Mehmed Ali Pasha as the founder of modern Egypt Khaled Fahmy offers a new interpretation of his role in the rise of Egyptian nationalism locating him in the Ottoman context as an ambitious Ottoman reformer Basing his work on previously neglected archival material the author demonstrates how Mehmed Ali sought to develop the Egyptian economy and to build up the army not as a means of gaining Egyptian independence from the Ottoman Empire but to further his own ambitions for hereditary rule over the province In its analysis of nation building and the construction of state power the book makes a significant contribution to the larger theoretical debates It will therefore be essential reading for students in the field as well as for Ottomanists military historians and those interested in the development of the modern nation state

The Reconciliation of Races and Religions Thomas Kelly Cheyne,1914

The Greatest M. Prefontaine,2016-06-07 I ll tell you how I would like to be remembered As a black man who won the heavyweight title Who was humorous and never looked down on those who looked up to him A man who stood for freedom justice and equality And I wouldn t even mind if folks forgot how pretty I was Muhammad Ali No one has straddled the world of sport politics and popular culture as Muhammad Ali did He was born in Louisville in 1942 in an America where blacks were subjected to a brutal apartheid and were treated as second class citizens He rose through his boxing skill and character to become the most famous person in the world at the time He was most famous for styling himself as The Greatest There is a consensus that he was the greatest of boxers during an era of great boxers However he was far more than that He was a very great man a moral leader anti war and fierce opponent of racial prejudice A career beyond boxing as a black political leader fighting for the rights of an oppressed minority seemed inevitable Fate had another twist however and Ali suffered from Parkinson s Disease for 30 years possibly exacerbated by an extended boxing career This rendered his full potential as an advocate for black rights impossible This book tells the story of a much loved and complex man through his own words

Mirror for the Muslim Prince Mehrzad Boroujerdi,2013-05-01 In this volume a group of distinguished scholars reinterpret concepts and canons of Islamic thought in Arab Persian South Asian and Turkish traditions They demonstrate that there is no unitary Islamic position on important issues of statecraft and governance They recognize that Islam is a discursive site marked by silences agreements and animated controversies Rigorous debates and profound disagreements among Muslim theologians philosophers and literati have taken place over such questions as What is an Islamic state Was the state ever viewed as an independent political institution in the Islamic tradition of political thought Is it possible that a religion that places an inordinate emphasis upon the importance of good deeds does not indeed have a vigorous notion of public interest or a systematic theory of government Does Islam provide an edifice a common idiom and an ideological mooring for premodern and modern Muslim rulers alike

The nuanced reading of the Islamic traditions provided in this book will help future generations of Muslims contemplate a
