though there is no other evidence linking him to the crime Remembering a service that Le Bon once performed for him Dupin becomes intrigued and offers his assistance to G the prefect of police Because none of the witnesses can agree on the language spoken by the second voice Dupin concludes they were not hearing a human voice at all He and the narrator examine the house thoroughly the following day Dupin dismisses the idea of both Le Bon s guilt and a robbery motive citing the fact that the gold was not taken from the room He also points out that the murderer would have had to have superhuman strength to force the daughter s body up the chimney He formulates a method by which the murderer could have entered the room and killed both women involving an agile climb up a lightning rod and a leap to a set of open window shutters Showing an unusual tuft of hair he recovered from the scene and demonstrating the impossibility of the daughter being strangled by a human hand Dupin concludes that an Ourang Outang orangutan killed the women He has placed an advertisement in the local newspaper asking if anyone has lost such an animal and a sailor soon arrives looking for it Illustration by Daniel Vierge of The Murders in the Rue Morgue 1870 The sailor offers to pay a reward but Dupin is interested only in learning the circumstances behind the two murders The sailor explains that he captured the orangutan while in Borneo and brought it back to Paris but had trouble keeping it under control When he saw the orangutan attempting to shave its face with his straight razor imitating his morning grooming it fled into the streets and reached the Rue Morgue where it climbed up and into the house The orangutan seized the mother by the hair and was waving the razor imitating a barber when she screamed in fear it flew into a rage ripped her hair out slashed her throat and strangled the daughter The sailor climbed up the lightning rod in an attempt to catch the animal and the two voices heard by witnesses belonged to it and to him Fearing punishment by its master the orangutan threw the mother s body out the window and stuffed the daughter into the chimney before fleeing
