The New Net Goes Fishing Witi Ihimaera, 1977      The New Net Goes Fishing Witi Ihimaera, 1985      Writing Along Broken Lines Otto Heim, 1998

Covering the two decades from 1972 Swiss scholar Otto Heim presents detailed readings of the novels and short fiction by Heretaunga Pat Baker Alan Duff Patricia Grace Keri Hulme Witi Ihimaera Bruce Stewart J C Sturm Apirana Taylor and Ngahuia Te Awakotuku His book places the fiction by Maori writers in the context of a culture of survival and traces its textual engagement with violence between empathy and sacrifice from the privacy of domestic violence to the public arenas of systemic violence and war He argues that out of this confrontation with violence emerges a distinctive ethnic world view created by the construction of individual experience the development of an ideological stance and the expression of a spiritual orientation Heim s analysis shows works of fiction by contemporary Maori writers as challenging explorations of the constraints placed on the literary imagination by the urgent facts of the human condition and the imperatives of culture      The New Zealand Short Story Collection Marion McLeod, Bill Manhire, 1997 Combines outstanding contemporary New Zealand fiction with some of the best from the past The New Zealand of these stories is not the country presented in glossy brochures but a real place that can only be described with accuracy and vision by the imagination      Reference Guide to Short Fiction Thomas Riggs, 1999 Reference Guide to Short Fiction provides study and commentary on the most instrumental writers of short fiction through the 20th century International in scope this single scholarly volume includes 779 entries on 377 authors and 402 short stories      Indigenous Literature of Oceania Nicholas J. Goetzfridt, 1995-02-28 Oceania has a rich and growing literary tradition The imaginative literature that emerged in the 1960s often reflected the forms and structures of European literature though the ideas expressed were typically anticolonial After three decades the literature of Oceania has become much more complex in terms of style as well as content and authors write in a multiplicity of styles and voices While the written literature of Oceania is continuously gaining more critical attention questions about the imposition of European literary standards and values as a further extension of colonialism in the Pacific have become a central issue This book is a detailed survey of the expanding amount of critical and interpretive material written about the imaginative literature of authors from Oceania It focuses on commentary and scholarship concerned with the poetry fiction and drama written in English by indigenous peoples of the Pacific Islands New Zealand and Australia The criticisms have appeared in academic books and journals since the mid 1960s They have developed to the point at which critical issues related to decolonization and the expression of ideas without having to first satisfy foreign expectations often determine the direction of such discussions Entries are grouped in topical chapters and each entry includes an extensive annotation An introductory essay summarizes the evolution of Pacific literature      Native Son Witi Ihimaera, 2019-09-17 This is the second volume of memoir by this remarkable Maori writer and of the living myths that inspired him at the beginning of his career Look at him the young man on the cover The year is 1972 he is 28 his first book is about to be published and he has every reason to kick up his heels But behind that joyful smile and the image of a writer footing it in the Pakeha world there is another narrative one that Witi has not told before The story of a native son struggling to find a place a voice and an identity and to put a secret past to rest This sequel to his award winning memoir picks up where Maori Boy stopped following Witi through his triumphs and failures at school and university to experimenting sexually searching for love and purpose and to becoming our first Maori novelist It continues in the same vein as the first volume which was described by a reviewer as a rich powerful multi layered and totally unique story something every New Zealander should read
