New Mexico Women Intercultural Perspectives:

New Mexico Women Joan M. Jensen, Darlis A. Miller, 1986 This important work begins the task of reconstructing the history of New Mexico women from colonial times to the modern era. Although women have always contributed to the social, cultural, economic and political spheres of the state, no historical account of these activities existed prior to this anthology. In each essay, the historical record is carefully examined to reveal the contributions of women from all of New Mexico's cultural groups. As the first book to reveal the rich and varied history of women in New Mexico, this work brings new scholarship to old sources including archives, court transcripts, military records, U.S. government correspondence, personal diaries and letters, and oral narratives. The result is an anthology that is as interesting and rewarding to read as it is an important first step in revising and correcting the historical record.

Western Women's Lives Sandra Schackel, 2003 An anthology of essays about 20th century women living in the western U.S. showing that the image of the pioneer woman has been replaced not with another dominant one but with many

African American History in New Mexico Bruce A. Glasrud, 2013-02-15 Although their total numbers in New Mexico were never large, blacks arrived with Spanish explorers and settlers and played active roles in the history of the territory and state. Here, Bruce Glasrud assembles the best information available on the themes, events and personages of black New Mexico history. The contributors portray the blacks who accompanied Cabeza de Vaca, Coronado and de Vargas and recount their interactions with Native Americans in colonial New Mexico. Chapters on the territorial period examine black trappers and traders as well as review the issue of slavery in the territory and the blacks who accompanied Confederate troops and fought in the Union army during the Civil War in New Mexico. Eventually, blacks worked on farms and ranches, in mines and on railroads, as well as in the military seeking freedom and opportunity in New Mexico's wide open spaces. A number of black towns were established in rural areas. Lacking political power because they represented such a small percentage of New Mexico's population, blacks relied largely on their own resources and networks, particularly churches and schools.

Chicana Creativity and Criticism María Herrera-Sobek, Helena María Viramontes, 1996 Poetry

art and criticism by major Chicana writers and artists

James Silas Calhoun Sherry Robinson, 2021-10-15 Veteran journalist and author Sherry Robinson presents readers with the first full biography of New Mexico's first territorial governor, James Silas Calhoun. Robinson explores Calhoun's early life in Georgia and his military service in the Mexican War and how they led him west. Through exhaustive research, Robinson shares Calhoun's story of arriving in New Mexico in 1849, a turbulent time in the region to serve as its first Indian agent. Inhabitants were struggling to determine where their allegiances lay; they had historic and cultural ties with Mexico but the United States offered an abundance of possibilities. An accomplished attorney, judge, legislator and businessman, and an experienced speaker and negotiator who spoke Spanish, Calhoun was uniquely qualified to serve as the first territorial governor, only eighteen months into his service. While his time on the New Mexico political scene was brief, he served with passion, intelligence and goodwill, making him one of the most intriguing political figures in the history of New Mexico Someday Candelaria Garcia said to the author you will get all the stories It was a tall order in Magdalena New Mexico a once booming frontier town where Navajo Anglo and Hispanic people have lived in shifting sometimes separate sometimes overlapping worlds for well over a hundred years But these were the stories and this was the world that David Wallace Adams set out to map in a work that would capture the intimate complex history of growing up in a Southwest borderland At the intersection of memory myth and history his book asks what it was like to be a child in a land of ethnic and cultural boundaries The answer as close to all the stories as one might hope to get captures the diverse ever changing experience of a Southwest community defined by cultural borders and the nature and role of children in defending and crossing those borders In this book we listen to the voices of elders who knew Magdalena nearly a century ago and the voices of a younger generation who negotiated the community s shifting boundaries Their stories take us to sheep and cattle ranches Navajo ceremonies Hispanic fiestas mining camps First Communion classes ranch house dances Indian boarding school drill fields high school social activities and children s rodeos Here we learn how class religion language and race influenced the creation of distinct identities and ethnic boundaries but also provided opportunities for cross cultural interactions and intimacies And we see the critical importance of education in both reinforcing differences and opening a shared space for those differences to be experienced and bridged In this Adams s work offers a close up view of the transformation of one multicultural community but also of the transformation of childhood itself over the course of the twentieth century A unique blend of oral social and childhood history Three Roads to Magdalena is a rare living document of conflict and accommodation across ethnic boundaries in our ever evolving multicultural society Published in Cooperation with the William P Clements Center for Southwest Studies Southern Methodist University

Sacred Feminine Judith M. McLaughlin,2009 Sacred Feminine examines the role that culture religion sociology art and gender played in the development of the religious Santero art in particular the images of women Santero art beautifully portrayed the feminine both in nature and spirit The Spanish loved the Virgin profoundly and fervently from the 12th century onward within the Cult of Mary in Spain and throughout Europe This devotion reached its peak just before and during the discovery and conquest of the New World

Nina Otero-Warren of Santa Fe Charlotte Whaley,2007-12 In many ways Nina Otero Warren s life paralleled that of Santa Fe and New Mexico in the early years of the 20th century Born in 1881 she saw New Mexico change from a mostly rural territory to become the 47th state in 1912 with increasing Anglo immigrant influences

Take My Word Anne E. Goldman,2023-09-01 In an innovative critique of traditional approaches to autobiography Anne E Goldman convincingly demonstrates that ethnic women can and do speak for themselves even in the most unlikely contexts Citing a wide variety of nontraditional texts including the cookbooks of Nuevo Mexicanas African American memoirs of midwifery and healing and Jewish women s histories of the garment industry Goldman illustrates how

American women have asserted their ethnic identities and made their voices heard over and sometimes against the interests of publishers editors and readers While the dominant culture has interpreted works of ethnic literature as representative of a people rather than an individual the working women of this study insist upon their own agency in narrating rich and complicated self portraits In an innovative critique of traditional approaches to autobiography Anne E Goldman convincingly demonstrates that ethnic women can and do speak for themselves even in the most unlikely contexts Citing a wide variety of nontraditional texts including Women of New Mexico Marta Weigle,1993 An intriguing collection of archival photographs from the late 1930s and 1940s depicting women s lives in settings ranging from the railroad yards at Clovis to the homestead community of Pie Town and from Taos County Hispanic villages to southern ranches Trails Patricia Nelson Limerick,Clyde A. Milner,Charles E. Rankin,1991 Reexamination of the role of the West in U S history and of the field of western history itself told by ten historians The American Historical Association's Guide to Historical Literature American Historical Association,1995 Contains nearly 2 000 annotated citations primarily English language works divided into forth eight sections citations refer chiefly to works published between 1961 and 1992 History Outreach Jesse D. Britton,Diane F. Britton,1994 The underlying premise for this book is that historical organizations including history departments can no longer wait for their phones to ring or someone to knock on their doors Therefore the focus of this book is the attempts by history museums historical societies preservation groups and academic history departments to create history outreach programs in order to better serve their constituents students communities and nontraditional audiences Case study articles written by leading historians in the field of public history address the need for historical organizations to develop outreach programs and provide descriptions of programs created to effectively take institutions out into the community Establishing Exceptionalism Amy Turner Bushnell,1995 For review see Noble David Cook in The Hispanic American Historical Review HAHR vol 77 nr 2 May 1997 p 303 304 Doing What the Day Brought Mary Aickin Rothschild,Pamela Claire Hronek,1992 I ve seen many changes during the years says Irene Bishop from horse and buggy to automobiles and planes from palm leaf fans to refrigeration They talk about the good old days but I do not want to go back I d like to go back about twenty years but not beyond that Life was too hard Drawing on interviews with twenty nine individuals Doing What the Day Brought examines the everyday lives of women from the late nineteenth century to the present day and demonstrates the role they have played in shaping the modern Arizona community Focusing on ordinary women the book crosses race ethnic religious economic and marital lines to include Arizona women from diverse backgrounds Rather than simply editing each woman s words Rothschild and Hronek have analyzed these oral histories for common themes and differences and have woven portions into a narrative that gives context to the individual lives The resulting life course format moves naturally from childhood to home life community service and participation in the work force and concludes with reflections on changes witnessed in the lifetimes of these women For the women whose lives are presented here it may have been common to gather dead saguaro cactus ribs to make outdoor fires to boil laundry water or to give birth on a dirt floor
