New Protectionists:

The New Protectionism Tim Lang, Colin Hines, 1993 This monograph questions the benefits of free trade arguing that far from promoting prosperity for all those involved free trade only serves a narrow range of interests primarily for the large corporations who conduct it. The authors claim that the consequences of present arrangements and those promised under the new GATT agreement will increase the difference between the world's rich and poor and accelerate the destruction of the global environment. The authors suggest instead that trading arrangements should emphasize regional self sufficiency and the overall amount of trade should be reduced.

New Protectionists Marcus Noland, 1999 For half a century the US Congress effectively evaded its constitutional duty by allowing the US President to take the lead in the formulation of trade policy. The result was a system which avoided the danger of log rolling exercises when setting tariffs. It facilitated the growth of trade and thus encouraged economic growth and rising living standards. For some however the system has shown signs of fragmentation arising from new pressures and challenges and is producing policy outcomes that lack coherence and rationale. New pressures include demands for trade protection arising from America's mounting trade deficit as well as jolts to the system caused by the struggle to create a North America Free Trade Agreement. More recently new demands largely unrelated to trade have perversely affected the policy as non governmental organisations have demanded a role in its formulation including those concerned with environmental social and labour issues. To a significant extent they have effectively privatised the policy process. Moreover the US government has increasingly used trade policy for non trade purposes principally as a tool of foreign and security policy. The pro liberalisation forces within Congress and the administration have been comprehensively outplayed. In the absence of political leadership and a greater public awareness of the issues at stake the stage is set for the still greater abuse of trade policy by narrow special interest groups in pursuit of particularist ends. In the circumstances the best that can be hoped for may be a series of international agreements which could constrain the abuse of US domestic policy formulation. But even this will require greater courage and resolve by the advocates of free trade than has recently been shown.

The book reviews protectionist practices in the United States the European Community and Japan. It assesses their causes and effects In coverage depth of analysis and vantage point this is a unique study of the new protectionist trends that began in the 1970s and continued into the 1980s Multilateralism in trade relations is now seriously threatened by the deviant behaviour of the industrial nations the would be pillars of the world trading system set up after World War II The new protectionism exerts strong pressures on the weaker components of the trading system the developing nations Born as an intra developed countries affair the new protectionism has in fact shifted its focus on developing countries threatening the newly found outward orientation of many and making more difficult for all to retain the benefits of export trade
