Curriculum and Learning for Climate Action ,2021-11-01 Listen to the podcast. The world is on a track to true climate catastrophe with unprecedented heat, floods, wildfires, and storms setting new records almost weekly. To avoid a climate disaster, we need rapid, transformative, and sustained action, as well as a major shift in our thinking, a shift strong enough to make the climate crisis a center of our social, political, economic, personal, and educational life. Curriculum and Learning for Climate Action is one of the best scorecards in comparative education for keeping track of this drama as it unfolds, shedding light on the global climate crisis like no other education writing today. This book turns to our curricula, our education systems, and our communities for a response on how to effectively achieve Target 4.7 of the UN Sustainable Development Goals: Universal Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) and Global Citizenship Education (GCED). The message from key stakeholders, including students, educators, and leaders of civil society, is driven home with passion and uncommon clarity. We can and must stave off the worst of climate change by building climate action into the world's pandemic recovery.

Digital Literacy Paul Gilster,1997-03-10 Digital Literacy isn't a book about how to get around the Internet. That ground has been amply covered. Digital Literacy provides Internet novices with the basic thinking skills and core competencies they'll need to thrive in an interactive environment so fundamentally different from passive media such as television or print     Digital Literacy Information Resources Management Associa,2012-07-31

Understanding Digital Literacies Rodney H. Jones, Christoph A. Hafner, 2012-05-31 Assuming no knowledge of linguistics Understanding Digital Literacies provides an accessible and timely introduction to new media literacies. It supplies readers with the theoretical and analytical tools with which to explore the linguistic and social impact of a host of new digital literacy practices. Each chapter in the volume covers a different topic presenting an overview of the major concepts, issues, problems and debates surrounding the topic while also encouraging students to reflect on and critically evaluate their own language and communication practices. Features include coverage of a diverse range of digital media texts, tools and practices including blogging, hypertextual organisation, Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, Wikipedia, websites and games, an extensive range of examples and case studies to illustrate each topic such as how blogs have affected our thinking about communication, how the creation and sharing of digital images and video can bring about shifts in social roles and how the design of multiplayer online games for children can promote different ideologies. A variety of discussion questions and mini ethnographic research projects involving exploration of various patterns of media production and communication between peers for example in the context of Wikinomics and peer production, social networking and civic participation and digital literacies at work. End of chapter suggestions for further reading and links to key web and video resources, a companion website providing supplementary material for each chapter including summaries of key issues, additional web based exercises and links to further resources such as useful websites, articles, videos and blogs. This book will provide a key resource for undergraduate and graduate students studying courses in new media and digital literacies.

How and Why to Read and Create Children's Digital Books Natalia Kucirkova, 2018-12-03 How and Why to Read and Create Children's Digital Books outlines effective ways of using digital books in early years and primary classrooms and specifies the educational potential of using digital books and apps in physical spaces and virtual communities. With a particular focus on apps and personalised reading, Natalia Kucirkova combines theory and practice to argue that personalised reading is only truly personalised when it is created or co-created by reading communities. Divided into two parts, Part I suggests criteria to evaluate the educational quality of digital books and practical strategies for their use in the classroom. Specific attention is paid to the ways in which digital books can support individual children's strengths and difficulties, digital literacies, language and communication skills. Part II explores digital books created by children, their caregivers, teachers and librarians, and Kucirkova also offers insights into how smart toys, tangibles and augmented virtual reality tools can enrich children's reading for pleasure. How and Why to Read and Create Children's Digital Books is of interest to an international readership ranging from trainee or established teachers to MA level students and researchers, as well as designers, librarians and publishers. All are inspired to approach children's reading on and with screens with an agentic perspective of creating and sharing. Praise for How and Why to Read and Create Children's Digital Books:

Digital Books This is an exciting and innovative book not least because it is freely available to read online but because its origins are in primary practice The author is an accomplished storyteller and whether you know as yet little about the value of digital literacy in the storymaking process or you are an accomplished digital player this book is full of evidence informed ideas explanations and inspiration Liz Chamberlain Open University At a time when children s reading is increasingly on screen many teachers parents and carers are seeking practical straightforward guidance on how to support children s engagement with digital books This volume written by the leading expert on personalised e books is packed with app reviews suggestions and insights from recent international research all underpinned by careful analysis of digital book features and recognition of reading as a social and cultural practice Providing accessible guidance on finding choosing sharing and creating digital books it will be welcomed by those excited by the possibilities of enthusing children about reading in the digital age Cathy Burnett Professor of Literacy and Education Sheffield Hallam University
