Multicultural Film Essays Spring 2003:

Multicultural Film Maricarmen Martínez, Eugene Joseph Crook, 2003

Opera in a Multicultural World Mary Ingraham, Joseph So, Roy Moodley, 2015-06-19 Through historical and contemporary examples this book critically explores the relevance and expressions of multicultural representation in western European operatic genres in the modern world. It reveals their approaches to reflecting identity transmitting meaning and inspiring creation as well as the ambiguities and contradictions that occur across the time and places of their performance. This collection brings academic researchers in opera studies into conversation with previously unheard voices of performers critics and creators to speak to issues of race ethnicity and culture in the genre. Together they deliver a powerful critique of the perpetuation of the values and practices of dominant cultures in operatic representations of intercultural encounters. Essays accordingly cross methodological boundaries in order to focus on a central issue in the emerging field of coloniality the hierarchies of social and political power that include the legacy of racialized practices. In theorizing coloniality through intercultural exchange in opera authors explore a range of topics and case studies that involve immigrant indigenous exoticist and other cultural representations and consider a broad repertoire that includes lesser known Canadian operas Chinese and African American performances as well as works by Haydn Strauss Puccini and Wagner and in performances spanning three continents and over two centuries. In these ways the collection contributes to the development of a more integrated understanding of the interdisciplinary fields inherent in opera including musicology sociology anthropology and others connected to Theatre Gender and Cultural Studies.

Remembering Viet Nam

Regula Fuchs, 2010 How does American culture deal with its memories of the Vietnam War and what role does literature play in this process Remembering Viet Nam is a fascinating exploration of the ways in which authors of Vietnam War literature represent American cultural memory in their writings The analysis is based on a wide array of sources including historical political cultural and literary studies as well as works on trauma It begins with an examination of American foundation myths their normative formative and most of all their bonding nature and the role institutions such as the military and the media play in upholding these myths The study then considers the soldiers and war veterans minds and bodies and the stories they tell as key sites in the debates over the war s place in American cultural memory The multilayered approach of Remembering Viet Nam allows the investigation of Vietnam War literature in its whole breadth including the debates instigated by the works examined and the influence these narratives themselves have on American cultural memory Most importantly the analysis uncovers why American foundation myths despite their being thoroughly questioned and even exposed as cultural inventions by authors and reviewers of Vietnam War literature can still retain their power within American society
