New Modeling Projeter Ensemble:

New modeling Yves Weinand,2004-01-01 Les architectes se sont intéressés aux cours de ces dernières années des geomtries complexes abandonnant les formes classiques et platoniciennes Si les outils informatiques d'aujourd'hui permettent de représenter ces geomtries cela ne signifie pas forcément que ces logiciels permettent également de les comprendre ou de les construire La démarche présente ici est basée sur la fabrication de modèles virtuels et physiques Ces modèles sont essentiels pour la compréhension et la formulation complète d'une architecture réussie L'ouvrage présente une synthèse partant de la visualisation vers la formulation de modèles virtuels et physiques en passant par la vérification des geomtries l'aide de modèles en maillages détaillés finis pour finalement aboutir à la réalisation des prototypes Le lecteur aura la possibilité de vérifier l'aide d'exemples la naissance la transformation et finalement la faisabilité d'une architecture basée sur une geomtrie complexe Par la même occasion le chemin limite parant artificiellement les disciplines d'architecture et de génie civil est supprimé au profit d'une véritable démarche interdisciplinaire
