DEUTERONOMY

God created man and woman in His image to live in His presence and gave them a choice to obey Him. Humanity rebelled and chose their own way. Sin and death entered the world and humanity was separated from God. God chose Abraham to "father" a covenant people (Hebrews/Israelites) through which His plan for restoration would take place. God delivered them from slavery and gave Moses laws and instructions for Israel to know and obey Him in the land He promised them.

ESTHER

Once in the promised land, God raised up judges (military and political leaders) to rule the people for 400 rebellious years - when they repeatedly broke God's covenant and worshiped the gods of the nations around them.

The Israelites desired a king like other nations. Some kings were God-honoring, but most were ungodly and led the Hebrew people astray from God. Twelve tribes of Israelites were divided into the north (Israel) and the south (Judah), both were judged for their sin and sent into exile.

After 70 years in exile, the people were led back to rebuild Jerusalem where they remained for 400 years awaiting the promised Messiah.

Captured mainly by King David and King Solomon, these books outline the heart of men who are in close connection with God, including wisdom given from the Lord, plus praise, prayer and poetry given to the Lord. They give practical application for God's people on how to live well as we experience the world around us, and most importantly, how to have awe and reverence toward God.

The first 5 prophetic books are called the Major Prophets, not because they are greater, but because they are longer. The remaining 12 are called the Minor Prophets because they are shorter.

Although there were hundreds of prophets in ancient Israel, the words of 16 were written and collected into books. God called prophets to speak His words to the Hebrew people. Prophets never ascended to office on their own, nor was their message their own.

Prior to the fall and exile of the northern and southern kingdoms, the prophets had the job of warning Israel of the judgment that would come from breaking God's covenant if they did not repent and turn back to God. This was not new information, the blessings and punishments were clearly recorded in the Law.

After the destruction of both kingdoms, during the 70 year exile and their return to Jerusalem, the prophets were moved more often to speak of God's mercy - a restored kingdom, a new covenant and a promised king who would rule forever. After the last prophet, Malachi, Israel entered into 400 years where the Bible does not record a prophetic word from God.

A historical overview of the Chinese Bible is provided as a way of introducing major translation issues related to linguistic conceptual and logistical challenges. The proposed theory provides the translator with a powerful tool which is tested in two sample passages from John 18:19 and 1 Corinthians 15. Provided also are critical reviews of over sixty Chinese Bible versions: Nestorian, Manichaean, Catholic documents and a translation written according to the proposed theory.
