Losing Ground:

Losing Ground Charles Murray, 1994 This classic book serves as a starting point for any serious discussion of welfare reform Losing Ground argues that the ambitious social programs of the 1960s and 1970s actually made matters worse for its supposed beneficiaries the poor and minorities Charles Murray startled readers by recommending that we abolish welfare reform but his position launched a debate culminating in President Clinton's proposal to end welfare as we know it

Visions of Poverty Robert Asen, 2012-01-01 Images of poverty shape the debate surrounding it In 1996 then President Bill Clinton signed welfare reform legislation repealing the principal federal program providing monetary assistance to poor families Aid to Families with Dependent Children AFDC With the president's signature this originally non controversial program became the only title of the 1935 Social Security Act to be repealed The legislation culminated a retrenchment era in welfare policy beginning in the early 1980s To understand completely the welfare policy debates of the last half of the 20th Century the various images of poor people that were present must be considered Visions of Poverty explores these images and the policy debates of the retrenchment era recounting the ways in which images of the poor appeared in these debates relaying shifts in images that took place over time and revealing how images functioned in policy debates to advantage some positions and disadvantage others Looking to the future Visions of Poverty demonstrates that any future policy agenda must first come to terms with the vivid disabling images of the poor that continue to circulate In debating future reforms participants whose ranks should include potential recipients ought to imagine poor people anew This ground breaking study in policymaking and cultural imagination will be of particular interest to scholars in rhetorical studies political science history and public policy

Technological Competition and Interdependence Gunter Heiduk, Kozo Yamamura, 2016-06-01 Advanced industrial nations face many difficult political and economic problems due to the accelerating pace and evolving character of technological change In this volume economists and political scientists discuss analytic and policy issues relating to the current state of technological capability in the United States Japan and Western Germany from a historical perspective and as a basis for future technological development They also examine the problems and the issues involved in competition and cooperation among high technology firms and in evolving a more harmonious trade regime The essays presented here explore from an international perspective the theoretical underpinnings of policy issues that are shaped by increasing international competition and by the changing form and character of the international trade regime Issues are discussed against the background of declining American technological dominance and intensifying competition as well as increasing international cooperation among high technology firms Specific topics include the internationalization of basic research the closing gap between basic and applied research the effect of nation specific interfirm relations and various characteristics of labor markets on technological progress and the effectiveness of various forms of government research and development assistance or more broadly industrial policy Three essays present overviews of the technological capability of and major policy issues faced by the United States Japan and Western Germany Others raise major theoretical and policy issues from the perspectives of political science and economics and address specific policy issues or groups of related issues Kathleen Collins Geetha Ramanathan,2019-10-14 A philosopher filmmaker Kathleen Collins decisively redefined the parameters of African American film with The Cruz Brothers and Miss Malloy 1980 and Losing Ground 1982 This book uses detailed analyses of Collins s films to contextualise her work in the African American feminist and world film traditions and it highlights her contribution to each of these canons Exploring the philosophical aspects of Collins s films and placing her in a genealogy of African American auteurs Geetha Ramanathan argues that Collins uses film to integrate diverse elements of African American culture showing how the medium can transform the visual and become a site of convergence for ideas on philosophy otherness art aesthetics and the craft of filmmaking Losing Ground Mark Dowie,1995 Traces the history of the environmental movement from its beginnings as private clubs to the activism of the 1960s and 1970s to the corporate sellout of the 1990s Unveils the stories behind American environmentalism s undeniable triumphs and its quite unnecessary failures Poverty, Hunger, and the Welfare System United States. Congress. House. Select Committee on Hunger,1987

Losing Ground Russell Avery,2015-12-16 Cal West s haunted life of wealth and ease is about to end in a ravine above California s Central Coast After days in the wreck of his vintage Corvette Cal is discovered by Anna Greene a headstrong environmentalist In a delirium of deprivation and gratitude he sees a singular chance to turn his life around to find meaning and love with Anna at his side but she despises that Cal lives off his father s rapacious land developments She wants nothing to do with him Swift and unforeseen events take Cal and Anna to Berlin where buried crimes and secrets await them Their return to California sees old frictions eclipsed by a far greater need to confront their changing lives now entwined and fast becoming unrecognizable Changing Neighbourhoods Jill Grant,Alan Walks,Howard Ramos,2020-03-15 In recent decades growing inequality and polarization have been reshaping the social landscape of Canada s metropolitan areas changing neighbourhoods and negatively affecting the lived realities of increasingly diverse urban populations This book examines the dimensions and impacts of increased economic inequality and urban socio spatial polarization since the 1980s Based on the work of the Neighbourhood Change Research Partnership an innovative national comparative study of seven major cities the authors reveal the dynamics of neighbourhood change across the Canadian urban system By mapping average income trends across neighbourhoods they show the kinds of factors social economic and cultural that influenced residential options and redistributed concentrations of poverty and affluence While the heart of the book lies in the project s findings from each city other chapters provide critical context Taken together they offer important understandings of the depth and the breadth of the problem at hand and signal the urgency for concerted policy responses in the decades to come
