LIDDICOAT, Martine Derivry-Plard et Research Network ReN-AILA, 2023-03-01 Cet ouvrage collectif et bilingue anglais fran ais s av re tout fait in dit tant dans son contenu que dans sa forme Il ne s agit pas de textes traduits du fran ais vers l anglais et inversement mais d une proposition de voyage conceptuel dans deux langues de travail qui ont m di les changes de ce collectif de chercheurs en didactique des langues tout en accueillant les autres langues en pr sence notamment le japonais l indon sien l arabe l allemand qui ont chacune galement apport leurs nuances et leurs renversements de perspective La juxtaposition ditoriale apparente n est pas par cons quent une traduction des textes dont la direction de ce qui est traduit n est jamais anodine mais une co construction en deux langues de travail d un collectif de recherche plurilingue Comment les concepts de m diation interculturelle de lien social entre des locuteurs de langues diverses de création de sens et de restructuration des significations opèrent ils Comment sont ils mobilisés partir de travaux empiriques et d'études de cas construites dans des contextes culturels tout autant divers et dans lesquels se meuvent les locuteurs acteurs plurilingues Ce sont ces multiples entre deux qui sont proposés par ce collectif afin de mieux circonscrire leurs implications pratiques de médiation en didactique des langues This bilingual English French collective work is original in both its content and its form It is not just an instance of texts translated from French into English and vice versa but of a conceptual journey in two working languages which have mediated the exchanges of a group of researchers in language teaching and learning that opened up to and welcomed the other languages present notably Japanese Indonesian Arabic German which have each contributed their nuances and changes of perspective As a result the parallel layout that has been used is not simply a translation of texts the direction of which is never without consequences but a co-construction in two working languages by a plurilingual research collective It considers how the concepts of intercultural mediation the social ties between speakers of different languages and making and restructuring meanings operate It also considers how are they mobilised in empirical work and case studies constructed in equally diverse cultural contexts in which plurilingual speakers actors move These are the multiple interrelationships that are proposed by this collective work in order to better delineate the practical implications of mediation in language teaching and learning

Emerging Technologies in Teaching Languages and Cultures Yoshiko Saito-Abbott, Richard Donovan, Thomas F. Abbott, 2003 Proceedings of the annual DigitalStream conferences held at California State University Monterey Bay in March 15-17 2001 and March 21-23 2002 Foreign Language and Culture Learning from a Dialogic Perspective Carol Morgan, Albane Cain, 2000 This book analyses an intercultural project undertaken by French and English 14 year olds based on an exchange of materials created by the pupils and focused on the topic of law and order The project was based on a view of learning as a dialogic process interacting with others A first language and home culture is acquired through such interaction This project sought to realise this dialogic process in a more meaningful way than is often the case in foreign language classrooms Language Policy and Language Education in Emerging Nations Robert de Beaugrande, Meta Grosman, Barbara Seidhofer, 1998 It has long been an assumption in the field of English as a foreign language that those who speak the language as natives pronounce the way it should be taught Most influential figures in the field have been outsiders and the subject has accordingly not been really defined as the teaching of English as a foreign language but as the teaching of English to foreigners quite a different thing This book discusses the designing of programs for learning which will take the different kinds of foreignness into account Language Learners as Ethnographers Celia Roberts, 2001 This book looks at the role of cultural studies and intercultural communication in language learning The book argues that learners who have an opportunity to stay in the target language country can be trained to do an ethnographic project while abroad Borrowing from anthropologists the idea of cultural fieldwork and writing culture language learners develop their linguistic and cultural competence through the study of a local group This book combines a theoretical overview of language and cultural practices with a description of ethnographic approaches and materials specifically designed for language learners Gender Issues Stefania Maci, Eleonora Federici, 2021-08-26 This volume aims at bridging the gap between LSP translation gender issues and the professional world The purpose is to broaden the discussion on gender awareness in LSP and translation Borneo 2000: Ethnicity, culture & society Borneo Research Council (Williamsburg, Va.). Conference, 2000 The Translator as Mediator of Cultures Humphrey Tonkin, Maria Esposito Frank, 2010 If it is bilingualism that transfers information and ideas from culture to culture it is the translator who systematizes and generalizes this process The translator serves as a mediator of cultures In this collection of essays based on a conference held at the University of Hartford a group of individuals professional translators linguists and literary scholars exchange their views on translation and its power to influence literary traditions and to shape cultural and economic identities The authors explore the implications of their views on the theory and craft of translation both written and oral in an era of unsettling globalizing forces Songs in the L2 Syllabus Laurie J. Iudin-Nelson, 1997 Mediating Between Theory and Practice in the Context of Different Learning Cultures and Languages David Newby, European Centre for Modern Languages, 2003-01-01 Report of a workshop held in Graz Austria on September 11 2001 Pragmatics and Language Learning , 1996 Language, Culture and Identity Torben Vestergaard, 1999 Are people's identities an effect of their membership of linguistic national regional and ethnic groups and does such group membership create problems for inter cultural communication These questions are addressed in this collection of nine papers from the Third Annual Conference of the Nordic Network for Intercultural Communications Answers are drawn from general theoretical pedagogical and empirical points of view They agree on one fundamental issue the language identity culture complex dynamic and overlapping rather than static and isomorphic This leads the contributions to touch upon the political implications of a relational and dynamic view on language culture human rights and regional identities in a Europe with crumbling national boundaries Among the topics are whether a person's identity is bound to a certain place and whether it is constant Others discuss cross cultural communication a post structuralist stance different values ascribed to words and actions the ability of people to interact with different cultures the cross cultural language link in language teaching what language choice says about people and their attitudes towards each other when more than one language is available and a recognition that most of us are members of several cultural groups which can create incompatible values and attitudes

New Approaches to Teaching Italian Language and Culture Emanuele Occhipinti, 2008 A collection of essays that offers case studies that provide a coherent and organized overview of contemporary Italian pedagogy It is suitable addresses the needs of instructors and teacher trainers putting in perspective different examples that can be used for more effective teaching techniques according to the ACTFL guidelines
