Science in Medieval Islam Howard R. Turner, 2010-07-28 A well organized and interesting overview of science in the Muslim world in the seventh through seventeenth centuries with over 100 illustrations The Middle East Journal During the Golden Age of Islam in the seventh through seventeenth centuries A D Muslim philosophers and poets artists and scientists princes and laborers created a unique culture that has influenced societies on every continent This book offers a fully illustrated highly accessible introduction to an important aspect of that culture the scientific achievements of medieval Islam Howard Turner who curated the subject for a major traveling exhibition opens with a historical overview of the spread of Islamic civilization from the Arabian peninsula eastward to India and westward across northern Africa into Spain He describes how a passion for knowledge led the Muslims during their centuries of empire building to assimilate and expand the scientific knowledge of older cultures including those of Greece India and China He explores medieval Islamic accomplishments in cosmology mathematics astronomy astrology geography medicine natural sciences alchemy and optics He also indicates the ways in which Muslim scientific achievement influenced the advance of science in the Western world from the Renaissance to the modern era This survey of historic Muslim scientific achievements offers students and other readers a window into one of the world s great cultures one which is experiencing a remarkable resurgence as a religious political and social force in our own time

State and Rural Society in Medieval Islam Tsugitaka Satō, 1997-01-01 Arabic and Persian sources state that soldiers were eager to hold better iqt in Iraq Syria and Egypt This thorough study on the iqt system enables us to comprehend the evolution of state and rural society in medieval Islam

Medieval Islam Gustave E. von Grunebaum, 2010-01-15 From the Preface This book has grown out of a series of public lectures delivered in the spring of 1945 in the Division of the Humanities of the University of Chicago It proposes to outline the cultural orientation of the Muslim Middle Ages with eastern Islam as the center of attention It attempts to characterize the medieval Muslim s view of himself and his peculiarly defined universe the fundamental intellectual and emotional attitudes that governed his works and the mood in which he lived his life It strives to explain the structure of his universe in terms of inherited borrowed and original elements the institutional framework within which it functioned and its place in relation to the contemporary Christian world A consideration of the various fields of cultural activity requires an analysis of the dominant interest the intentions and to some extent the methods of reasoning with which the Muslim approached his special subjects and to which achievement and limitations of achievement are due Achievements referred to or personalities discussed will never be introduced for their own sake let alone for the sake of listing the sum total of this civilization s major contributions They are dealt with rather to evidence the peculiar ways in which the Muslim essayed to understand and to organize his world The plan of the book thus rules out the narration of political history beyond the barest skeleton but it requires the ascertaining of the exact position of Islam in the medieval world and its significance This plan also excludes a study of Muslim economy but it leads to an interpretation of the social structure as molded by the prime loyalties cherished by the Muslim

A History of Medieval Islam John Joseph Saunders,2002-03-11 This is an introduction to the history of the Muslim East from the rise of Islam to the Mongol conquests It explains and indicates the main trends of Islamic historical evolution during the Middle Ages and will help the non Orientalist to understand something of the relationship between Islam and Christendom in those centuries

Power, Marginality, and the Body in Medieval Islam Fedwa Malti-Douglas,2022-04-19 From rulers to uninvited guests from women to thieves from dreams to names from blindness to torture in a series of ground breaking studies Power Marginality and the Body in Medieval Islam explores the multi layered and complex textual universe of medieval Islam The power of the ruler sits alongside the power of the trickster as games of detection and verbal erudition are displayed for the edification of the reader Humour is not lacking either as male and female characters indulge in various forms of wit that redefine and recast the sacred For much of this world the body reigns supreme not only in illness and miracle cures but in displays of transgression and torture Covering the range of literature from sacred text to history biography and anecdote this book provides a stimulating analysis of the world of medieval Islamic mentalit s

Law and Piety in Medieval Islam Megan H. Reid,2013-07-22 The Ayyubid and Mamluk periods were two of the most intellectually vibrant in Islamic history Megan H Reid s book which traverses three centuries from 1170 to 1500 recovers the stories of medieval men and women who were renowned not only for their intellectual prowess but also for their devotional piety Through these stories the book examines trends in voluntary religious practice that have been largely overlooked in modern scholarship This type of piety was distinguished by the pursuit of God s favor through additional rituals which emphasized the body as an instrument of worship and through the rejection of worldly pleasures and even society itself Using an array of sources including manuals of law fatwa collections chronicles and obituaries the book shows what it meant to be a good Muslim in the medieval period and how Islamic law helped to define holy behavior In its concentration on personal piety ritual and ethics the book offers an intimate perspective on medieval Islamic society

Medieval Islamic Civilization: A-K, index Josef W. Meri,2006 Publisher description

Poverty and Charity in Medieval Islam Adam Abdelhamid Sabra,2000-12-21 The study of poverty and charity in Islamic history has made significant advances and Adam Sabra s book represents a full length treatment of the subject By focusing on Mamluk Cairo the author explores the attitude of medieval Muslims to poverty why and how did they give alms and the experience of being poor in an Islamic society He also considers the role of pious endowments waqfs in providing food education and medical care to the poor of medieval Egypt This is a fascinating account of a world far removed from the affairs of emirs and ulama usually the traditional province of Mamluk studies This trend in conjunction with the comparisons the author affords of poverty and destitution in Europe and China during the same period will entice a broad range of scholars from within the field and beyond

Light from the East John Freely,2010-12-18 Long before the European Renaissance while the western world was languishing in what was once called the Dark Ages the Arab world was ablaze with the knowledge invention and creativity of its Golden Age This is the story of how Islamic science which began with the translation of Greek manuscripts into Arabic in eighth century Baghdad preserved and enhanced the knowledge acquired from Greece Mesopotamia India and China Through the astrologers physicians philosophers mathematicians and alchemists of the Muslim world this knowledge was carried from Samarkand and Baghdad to Cordoba and beyond influencing western thinkers from Thomas Aquinas and Copernicus and helping to inspire the cultural phenomenon of the Renaissance John Freely tells this spellbinding story against a background of the melting pot of cultures involved and concludes with the decline of Islam s Golden Age which led the West to forget the debt it owed to the Muslim world and the influence of medieval Islamic civilisation in forging the beginnings of modern science     Medieval Islam Dominique Sourdell,1983-01-01     Routledge Revivals: Medieval Islamic Civilization (2006) Josef Meri,2018-01-12 Islamic civilization flourished in the Middle Ages across a vast geographical area that spans today s Middle and Near East First published in 2006 Medieval Islamic Civilization examines the socio cultural history of the regions where Islam took hold between the 7th and 16th centuries This important two volume work contains over 700 alphabetically arranged entries contributed and signed by international scholars and experts in fields such as Arabic languages Arabic literature architecture history of science Islamic arts Islamic studies Middle Eastern studies Near Eastern studies politics religion Semitic studies theology and more Entries also explore the importance of interfaith relations and the permeation of persons ideas and objects across geographical and intellectual boundaries between Europe and the Islamic world This reference work provides an exhaustive and vivid portrait of Islamic civilization and brings together in one authoritative text all aspects of Islamic civilization during the Middle Ages Accessible to scholars students and non specialists this resource will be of great use in research and understanding of the roots of today s Islamic society as well as the rich and vivid culture of medieval Islamic civilization     Classical Islam Gustave Edmund Grunebaum,2005 In a book written with the poignancy and beauty appropriate to its subject matter the author opens by reminding us that the essence of a society is in a sense identical with its history Classical Islam also serves as a reminder that in the case of Islam despite its triumphs on the fields of battle telling its history is the only way open to us to render that essence accessible and show it from all sides The work offers a grand narrative of a faith that offers an interpretation of the world a way of life and a style of thinking that goes far beyond institutional or political supports The relevance of this historical perspective is beyond dispute The period from 610 A D when Muhammad received his call until the conquest of Baghdad by the Mongols in 1258 is known as the classical period of Islam This was the period of the great expansion of Islam both as a political structure and as a religious and intellectual community It established the base for the development of the high Islamic civilization of North Africa the Near East Persia and India as well as further expansion of the Islamic religious and intellectual community throughout the world This book presents an authoritative history of the period written by one of the world s leading experts on the subject Classical Islam examines the relationships both cultural and political between the Islamic world and the Mediterranean countries and India and elaborates on the economic social and intellectual factors and forces that shaped the Muslim world and molded its interactions with infidels The work is written in a clear and direct narrative form emphasizing simultaneously the major intellectual trends and the political events and tendencies of the formative period in Islamic history that still resonates today      Urban Autonomy in Medieval Islam Fukuzo Amabe,2016-04-18 In Urban Autonomy in Medieval Islam Fukuzo Amabe offers the first in depth study on autonomous cities in medieval Islam stretching from Aleppo and Damascus to Cordoba Toledo and Valencia through Tunis during the late tenth to early twelfth centuries Each city is treated separately to cull facts to prove its autonomy at least for a certain period The Middle East was the first region to develop cities and then empires in ancient times Furthermore the Islamic world was the first to transform ancient political or farmer cities to economic and industrial ones consisting of notables and plebeians followed by China then parts of Western Europe      Mapping Frontiers Across Medieval Islam Travis Zadeh,2017-02-28 The story of the 9th century caliphal mission from Baghdad to discover the legendary barrier against the apocalyptic nations of Gog and Magog mentioned in the Quran has been either dismissed as superstition or treated as historical fact By exploring the intellectual and literary history surrounding the production and early reception of this adventure Travis Zadeh traces the conceptualization of frontiers within early Abbasid society and re evaluates the modern treatment of marvels and monsters inhabiting medieval Islamic descriptions of the world Examining the roles of translation descriptive geography and salvation history in the projection of early Abbasid imperial power this book is essential for all those interested in Islamic studies the Abbasid dynasty and its politics geography religion Arabic and Persian literature and European Orientalism      Islam in the Middle Ages Jacob Lassner,Michael Bonner,2010 Islam in the Middle Ages addresses the intellectual and religious achievements of medieval Muslims against the backdrop of an evolving political and social history that shaped the ways in which Muslims understood themselves and the larger world Unlike many authors of similar surveys Lassner and Bonner not only emphasize historical trends but show readers how difficult it is to fashion a coherent historical narrative out of the complex and often contradictory primary sources Readers thus participate in the intricate process by which professional historians attempt to reconstruct the past At the same time since classical Islamic civilization is so important for Muslims in the present day Near East this book will help the reader understand the contemporary Islamic world Book Jacket      State and Government in Medieval Islam Ann K. S. Lambton,2013-10-28 First published in 2004 For the Muslim the foundation from which all discussion of government starts is the law of God the shar'a Theoretically pre existing and eternal it represents absolute good It is prior to the community and the state Part of London Oriental Series this volume's concern was with the political ideas of the period extending from the 2nd 8th century to the 11th 17th century and to the central lands of the caliphate including Persia and North Africa      Document Analysis of "A History of Medieval Islam" by J.J. Saunders Nassef Adiong,2009-01-15 Scientific Essay from the year 2008 in the subject

History Miscellaneous grade A Technological University of the Philippines Middle East studies course for college papers language English abstract One can crucially think and intellectually assumed that the civilization of the Arabs brought a medieval golden age that unified the whole West and South Asia Northern Africa and Southeastern Europe stretching from Mesopotamia Iraq Persia Iran Asia Minor Turkey Egypt the Arabian Peninsula and India to the backdoors of the European continent Spain was a product of the propagation of one powerful ideology which is Islam In the book written by J J Saunders a historian of middle age Islam poignantly narrated the Islamic and Arab historiography in his book published in 1965 entitled A History of Medieval Islam which have explicitly expressed a well crafted academic research work during the medieval society of West Asia and the political interventions of different empires who have had occupied the whole boundless yet fragile region The proponent will succinctly try to examine this hypothesis whether an indispensable Islam have unified half of the world through an inconsequential Arab civilization and factors that brought occupations into reality The document in the last chapter The Civilization of Medieval Islam will be the subject to a critical analysis
