John Corbin

Medieval Hall:

The Medieval Hall Michael Welman Thompson, 1995 Using a wide range of literary and archaeological sources in combination with close examination of standing halls and remains Michael Thompson describes and interprets the development of one of the dominant architectural features of medieval life He also examines the social functions of the hall the hall culture a way of life turning on the great room at the social and physical centre of secular and religious communities

Essex James Bettley, Nikolaus Pevsner, 2007-01-01 Essex one the largest counties of England stretches from the suburban fringes of East London to the fishing and sailing ports of Harwich and Maldon and the famous seaside resorts of Clacton Frinton and Southend Its buildings encompass rich Roman survivals powerful Norman architecture and the remains of major Tudor and Jacobean country houses Essex is first and foremost a county famed for its timber buildings from the eleventh century church at Greensted to the early and mighty barns at Cressing Temple and a wealth of timber framed medieval houses Later periods have also made their contribution from Georgian town houses to Victorian and Edwardian industrial and civic buildings and from important exemplars of early Modern Movement architecture to the major monument of High Tech at Stansted Airport

Greater Medieval Houses of England and Wales, 1300-1500: Volume 2, East Anglia, Central England and Wales Anthony Emery, 1996 The second volume of a massive illustrated survey of the greater houses of medieval England and Wales first published in 1996

Houses and Society in Norwich, 1350-1660 Chris King, 2020 First full archaeological study of the urban environment of Norwich when its power was at its height Norwich was second only to London in size and economic significance from the late Middle Ages through to the mid seventeenth century This book brings together for the first time the rich archaeological evidence for urban households and domestic life in Norwich using surviving buildings excavated sites and material culture It offers a broad overview of the changing forms construction and spatial organisation of urban houses during the period ranging across the social spectrum from the large courtyard mansions occupied by members of the mercantile and civic elite to the homes of the urban middling sort and the small two and three roomed cottages of the city s weavers and artisans The so called age of transition witnessed profound social and economic changes and religious and political upheavals which Norwich as a major provincial capital experienced with particular force and intensity domestic life was also transformed The author examines the twin themes of continuity and change in the material world and the role of the domestic sphere in the expression and negotiation of shifting power relationships economic structures and social identities in the medieval and early modern city

Bad Medievalism and the Modernity Problem Kathy Lavezzo, 2025-11-04 Challenges the assumptions made over the medieval modern divide by examining the medieval roots of modern racism Humanists have long insisted on a chasm

separating modernity and the Middle Ages In Bad Medievalism and the Modernity Problem Kathy Lavezzo demonstrates how the temporal divide scholars typically accept is a fiction that has shaped racial discourse over a long time The hard line drawn between then and now is of a piece with the line separating whiteness from humans deemed irrevocably other Thus Lavezzo advocates a bad that is depressing and disturbing even nauseating historicism attuned to the interpenetration of race whiteness and periodicity in the west Teasing out the dialectical invocation of both periods by figures as diverse as W E B Du Bois Carolyn Bynum Stuart Hall Johan Huizinga Paule Marshall Karl Marx Gloria Naylor J R R Tolkien and Sylvia Wynter Lavezzo demonstrates how the tension between and across categories of the medieval and the modern has mobilized intense emotional and political responses Inspired by Lavezzo s discovery that Hall the beloved founder of cultural studies planned as a student at Oxford to become a medievalist but was dissuaded from that path by his teacher Tolkien Bad Medievalism and the Modernity Problem unpacks the implications of that charged encounter Central chapters contrast Tolkien s white heritage medievalism with a speculative inquiry into the Piers Plowman dissertation that Hall never wrote Other chapters assess the white feel of periodization by scholars including Jacob Burckhardt Huizinga Fredric Jameson and Bynum and draw on theorists including Du Bois and Wynter to chart the medieval roots of a racialized discourse of progress and primitivism Bad Medievalism and the Modernity Problem culminates in new readings of Gloria Naylor s Bailey s Cafe and Paule Marshall s The Fisher King demonstrating their importance as productively pessimistic engagements with the racial legacies of both the medieval and the modern

The Houses of Hereford 1200-1700 Nigel Baker, Pat Hughes, Richard K. Morriss, 2017-12-21 The cathedral city of Hereford is one of the best kept historical secrets of the Welsh Marches Although its Anglo Saxon development is well known from a series of classic excavations in the 1960s and 70s what is less widely known is that the city boasts an astonishingly well preserved medieval plan and contains some of the earliest houses still in everyday use anywhere in England Three leading authorities on the buildings of the English Midlands have joined forces combining detailed archaeological surveys primary historical research and topographical analysis to examine 24 of the most important buildings from the great hall of the Bishop s Palace of c 1190 to the first surviving brick town house of c 1690 Fully illustrated with photographs historic maps and explanatory diagrams the case studies include canonical and mercantile hall houses of the Middle Ages mansions commercial premises and simple suburban dwellings of the early modern period Owners and builders are identified from documentary sources wherever possible from the Bishop of Hereford and the medieval cathedral canons through civic office holding merchant dynasties to minor tradesmen otherwise known only for their brushes with the law

The Universities of Europe in the Middle Ages Hastings Rashdall, 1895 Houses of the Welsh Countryside Peter Smith, 1988 When this book was first published in 1975 it was at once enthusiastically received by scholars and the general public alike and recognized as a classic of its genre It represented a notable publication of the early fruits of the Commission s work on the side of its responsibility for the National Monuments Record for Wales During the years which have since intervened much fresh information has come to light concerning Welsh houses not least because of the intense interest awakened by the original publication This new knowledge has as far as possible been incorporated in the new and revised edition which contains approximately onequarter more material than the first Although it has not been possible to alter the original text a number of additional maps and photographs have been included and a new dust jacket has been designed The Commissioners would wish warmly to congratulate their Secretary Mr Peter Smith those of his colleagues who were associated with him and H M S O on the excellence of this volume It marks another outstanding landmark in the study of vernacular architecture not only in Wales but also in the British Isles and a major achievement on the part of its author Although this second edition of Houses of the Welsh Countryside retains in their entirety the text the illustrations and the layout of the volume first published in 1975 it also includes a substantial amount of new information which has come to light since that date Some of this new material takes the form of additional figures inserted where appropriate into the existing illustrative pages Similarly a small number of additional colour plates showing typical houses in characteristic settings has been tipped into the text There are also additions to the original map lists It has not been possible for reasons of cost to bring the maps themselves up to date but as the newly discovered sites nearly always reinforce the distribution patterns first indicated this omission is not crucial The numbers of new discoveries can vary from a mere handful on one list to several hundred on another All other new material is introduced as part of an additional SECTION IV at the back of the volume This section comprises Corrigenda Covering sites which were inadequately or incorrectly described in the first volume involving in one case a complete reappraisal of the original reference Addenda I Describing and illustrating a small number of newly surveyed houses of especial interest which could not easily be fitted into the illustrations in the main text Addenda II Analysing the incidence of date inscriptions as evidence for building activity Addenda III Listing and mapping a number of features of domestic architecture not previously so noted Addenda IV Listing and mapping various features of ecclesiastical architecture which also occur in houses and which therefore have a bearing on the evolution of domestic architecture

An American at Oxford John Corbin, 1902 Anglo-Norman Castles Robert Liddiard, 2003 Wide ranging studies offer an in depth analysis of castle building 11th 12th centuries and place castles within their broader social and political context The castles of the eleventh and twelfth centuries remain among the most visible symbols of the Anglo Norman world This collection brings together for the first time some of the most significant articles in castle studies with contributions from experts in history archaeology and historic buildings Castles remain a controversial topic of academic debate and here equal weight is given to seminal articles that have defined the study of the subject while at the same time emphasising newer approaches to the fortresses of the Anglo Norman aristocracy The studies in this volume range from discussions of the residential and military role of the castle to architectural symbolism and royal attitudes to baronial fortification The result is a survey that offers an in depth analysis of castle building during the eleventh and twelfth centuries but which also places Anglo Norman castles within their broader social architectural and political context Contributors ANN WILLIAMS RICHARD EALES DEREK RENN LAWRENCE BUTLER ROBERT HIGHAM MARJORIE CHIBNALL R ALLEN BROWN CHARLES COULSON SIDNEY PAINTER FREDERICK C SUPPE GRANT G SIMPSON BRUCE WEBSTER J R KENYON THOMAS McNEILL T A HESLOP PHILIP DIXON PAMELA MARSHALL JOHN BLAIR CHARLES COULSON ROBERT LIDDIARD
