Traveling Through Text Elka Weber, 2014-02-04 Traveling through Text compares religious travel writing by Muslims Christians and Jews in later Middle Ages This comparative approach allows us to see that writers in all three religious communities used travel writing in the same way to shape the perceptions of their readers by asserting the author's authority The central paradox of religious travel writing is that the travel writer reads about a place usually in a sacred text decide to supplement the reading with the empirical experience of visiting and describing the place and then creates his own descriptive text But in writing this new book and in letting his readers know his authorial authority the travel writer himself is daring the reader to challenge the
