Media Students:

The Media Student's Book Gill Branston, Roy Stafford, 2003 A comprehensive introduction for students of media studies this third edition of The Media Student's Book has been thoroughly revised and updated in response to feedback from lecturers using the second edition and now focuses on the higher education syllabus more than ever before. It covers all the key topics encountered at undergraduate level and provides a detailed and clear guide to concepts and debates. Key features include think points and discussion points to get students really engaging with the topics, lists of useful web sites, resource centres and suggestions for further reading to encourage additional study, follow up activities and essay questions which can be used to set tutorial work, marginal terms definitions and cross references to provide clear explanations of key concepts and complex theories. Case studies throughout taken from advertising, films, radio, television, newspapers, magazines, photography and the Internet to ensure students are exposed to a rich range of media forms. Including a glossary of key terms for quick reference and revision, this third edition will be used by lecturers as a flexible teaching resource and by students to aid independent study.

Media Studies Robert Kolker, 2009-02-24 Media Studies is a comprehensive text for introductory and advanced courses in the growing field of media studies, integrating history with close textual analysis in a concise, readable style. Explores the growing synergies between print and online journalism and the growth of independent journalism through blogging. Discusses the ways advertising is connected to print and screen economically and from the perspective of the reader. Gives students the analytical skills they need in a presentation that is readable without sacrificing complexity. Allows students to move within the media they know while increasing comprehension.

What Media Classes Really Want to Discuss Greg M. Smith, 2011 What Media Classes Really Want To Discuss focuses on topics that introductory textbooks generally ignore, although they are prominent in students' minds. Using approachable prose, this book provides students with a solid starting point for discussing their assumptions critically and encourages the reader to argue with the book, furthering the discussion on media in everyday life and in the classroom.

Media/cultural Studies Rhonda Hammer, Douglas Kellner, 2009 This anthology is designed to assist teachers and students in learning how to better understand and interpret our common culture and everyday life. With a focus on contemporary media consumer and digital culture, this book combines classic and original writings by both leading and rising scholars in the field. The chapters present key theories, concepts and methodologies of critical cultural and media studies, as well as cutting edge research into new media. Sections on teaching media cultural studies and concrete case studies provide practical examples that illuminate contemporary culture, ranging from new forms of digital media and consumer culture to artifacts from TV and film, including Barbie and Big Macs, soap operas, Talk TV, Facebook and YouTube. The lively articles show that media cultural studies is an exciting and relevant arena and this text should enable students and citizens to become informed readers and critics of their culture and society.

Digital Inequalities in Media Education in South Asia Padma Rani, Bhanu Bhakta Acharya, Kulveen

Trehan,2025-01-24 This study explores the media education systems in South Asia looking not just at the heavy disruption of the Covid 19 pandemic but also the long standing digital inequalities and unequal socioeconomic opportunities that lead to reduced access to devices technology and digital media With a focus on eight South Asian countries Afghanistan Bangladesh Bhutan India Maldives Nepal Pakistan and Sri Lanka the chapters examine the adoption of technology for pedagogical purposes during the pandemic and the underlying socioeconomic reasons behind difficulties in implementing such rapid digital transformation in the region The authors then consider how we can draw from the performance of South Asian media education institutions already suffering from various digital divides during the Covid 19 pandemic to apply these lessons to the broader academic community With contributions from an international team of authors this book will interest students scholars and policymakers around the world working in the areas of media literacy education studies digital media global development and sociology
