Latin Rhetoric and Education in the Middle Ages and Renaissance James J. Murphy, 2023-07-21 The essays in this volume deal with the history of rhetoric and education for the thousand years from the early Middle Ages to the European Renaissance They represent the author's pioneering efforts over four decades to piece together a kind of mosaic which will provide elements necessary to construct a history of that thousand years of language activity Some essays deal with individual writers like Giles of Rome Peter Ramus Gulielmus Traversanus or Antonio Nebrija some focus on the influence of Cicero and Quintilian and other ancient sources The essays dealing specifically with education open up different inquiries into the ways language use was promoted and by whom Others explore the relations between Latin rhetoric and medieval English literature and finally several deal with the impact of printing a subject still not completely understood Italian Humanism and Medieval Rhetoric Ronald G. Witt, 2024-10-28 These essays are concerned with the nature of early renaissance political thought and the relationship between humanism and medieval rhetoric One group traces the influence of medieval political thought on the rise of the modern conception of republicanism others focus on the medieval art of letter writing and its place in the medieval cultural context while still others analyse the often contradictory thought of the early humanist Coluccio Salutati 1331-1406 who struggled to reconcile his classical learning with his medieval allegiances In the collection as a whole humanism emerges as a literary movement drawing as heavily on patristic and medieval culture as on antiquity Awareness of its various debts permits recognition of what humanism itself contributed to the development of western thought and ethics The Medieval Theater of Cruelty Jody Enders, 2002 Why did medieval dramatists weave so many scenes of torture into their plays Exploring the cultural connections among rhetoric law drama literary creation and violence Jody Enders addresses an issue that has long troubled students of the Middle Ages Theories of rhetoric and law of the time reveal she points out that the ideology of torture was a widely accepted means for exploiting such essential elements of the stage and stagecraft as dramatic verisimilitude pity fear and catharsis to fabricate truth Analyzing the consequences of torture for the history of aesthetics in general and of drama in particular Enders shows that if the violence embedded in the history of rhetoric is acknowledged we are better able to understand not only the enduring theater of cruelty identified by theorists from Isidore of Seville to Antonin Artaud but also the continuing modern devotion to the spectacle of pain of intellectual traditions and cultural practices including dialectic law conduct theory memory poetics and practical composition teaching preaching ars dictaminis and political oratory Also included are important contextualizing essays on the commentary tradition of the Ciceronian juvenilia on the textual history and manuscript transmission of Cicero's rhetorical works and on the Latin and vernacular traditions of Ciceronian rhetoric in Italy The volume concludes with an annotated appendix of illustrative texts containing extracts from the commentary tradition on Ciceronian rhetoric most of which have not been previously available in print
