Medieval Catalan Literature:

Medieval Catalan Literature David J. Viera, 1988 Medieval Catalan Literature Joan Ruiz i Calonja, Josep Roca-Pons, 1966 The Classical Tradition in Medieval Catalan, 1300-1500 Lluís Cabré, Montserrat Ferrer, Alejandro Coroleu, Josep Pujol, Albert Lloret, 2018 The first comprehensive study of the reception of the classical tradition in medieval Catalan letters Catalan Literature Arthur Terry, 1972 In writing this brief history of Catalan literature I have tried to bear in mind the needs of the non specialist reader with some knowledge of Spanish who wishes to know more about an important but on the whole neglected area of Peninsular culture Where English readers are concerned the task unfortunately is long overdue in a recent and otherwise excellent literary encyclopedia the whole of Catalan literature is allotted the same amount of space as Jean Paul Sartre and this seems characteristic of a situation which few specialists as yet have tried to alter The chief barrier of course is linguistic yet it is not difficult to acquire at least a reading knowledge of Catalan and for reasons which are given in Chapter 1 the older literature is relatively accessible to a modern reader compared say with that of France or Spain This accessibility gives an impression of coherence to the entire range of Catalan literature which is reinforced to a great extent by social and historical tendencies Roughly speaking Catalan literature follows a recognizable European pattern with one notable exception the fact that its course is interrupted for something like three centuries by what is usually known as the period of Decadence see Chapter 2 To see why this should be so demands an awareness of certain historical facts and these in turn point to the close interpenetration of literature and society which is evident in most phases of Catalan culture Both the 19th century revival and the more conscious programs of noucentisme in the 20th are attempts to create a new national identity a task which has lost none of its urgency in the years since the Spanish Civil War Preface A Comparative History of Literatures in the Iberian Peninsula Fernando Cabo Aseguinolaza, Anxo Abuín González, César Domínguez, 2010 A Comparative History of Literatures in the Iberian Peninsula is the second comparative history of a new subseries with a regional focus published by the Coordinating Committee of the International Comparative Literature Association As its predecessor for East Central Europe this two volume history distances itself from traditional histories built around periods and movements and explores from a comparative viewpoint a space considered to be a powerful symbol of inter literary relations Both the geographical pertinence and its symbolic condition are obviously discussed when not even contested Written by an international team of researchers who are specialists in the field this history is the first attempt at applying a comparative approach to the plurilingual and multicultural literatures in the Iberian Peninsula The aim of comprehensiveness is abandoned in favor of a diverse and extensive array of key issues for a comparative agenda A Comparative History of Literatures in the Iberian Peninsula undermines the primacy claimed for national and linguistic boundaries and provides a geo cultural account of literary inter systems which cannot otherwise be explained Romance of Evast and Blaquerna Ramon Llull, 2016 The first major work of literature written in Catalan and arguably the first

European novel A Companion to Catalan Literature Arthur Terry,2002 Introduction to Catalan Literature Josep Roca-Pons,1977 Catalan Literature, from a European Perspective Marina Gustà,Núria Santamaria,2007 En ochocientos años de vida la literatura catalana ha hecho un recorrido similar al de las diversas literaturas europeas Esta publicación da fe de ello Mediaeval Catalan Linguistic Texts Paul S. N. Russell-Gebbett,1965 Authoring the Past Jaume Aurell,2024-05-31 Authoring the Past surveys medieval Catalan historiography shedding light on the emergence and evolution of historical writing and autobiography in the Middle Ages on questions of authority and authorship and on the links between history and politics during the period Jaume Aurell examines texts from the late twelfth to the late fourteenth century including the Latin Gesta comitum Barcinonensium and four texts in medieval Catalan James I's Llibre dels fets the Crònica of Bernat Desclot the Crònica of Ramon Muntaner and the Crònica of Peter the Ceremonious and outlines the different motivations for the writing of each For Aurell these chronicles are not mere archaeological artifacts but rather documents that speak to their writers specific contemporary social and political purposes He argues that these Catalan counts and Aragonese kings were attempting to use their role as authors to legitimize their monarchical status their growing political and economic power and their aggressive expansionist policies in the Mediterranean By analyzing these texts alongside one another Aurell demonstrates the shifting contexts in which chronicles were conceived written and read throughout the Middle Ages The first study of its kind to make medieval Catalan writings available to English speaking audiences Authoring the Past will be of interest to scholars of history and comparative literature students of Hispanic and Romance medieval studies and medievalists who study the chronicle tradition in other languages Dream and Fantasy in 14th and 15th Century Catalan Prose Patricia J. Boehne,1975 The Routledge Handbook of Spanish Translation Studies Roberto Valdeón,África Vidal,2019-05-28 Written by leading experts in the area The Routledge Handbook of Spanish Translation Studies brings together original contributions representing a culmination of the extensive research to date within the field of Spanish Translation Studies The Handbook covers a variety of translation related issues both theoretical and practical providing an overview of the field and establishing directions for future research It starts by looking at the history of translation in Spain the Americas during the colonial period and Latin America and then moves on to discuss well established areas of research such as literary translation and audiovisual translation at which Spanish researchers have excelled It also provides state of the art information on new topics such as the interface between translation and humour on the one hand and the translation of comics on the other This Handbook is an indispensable resource for postgraduate students and researchers of translation studies The Rough Guide to Barcelona Jules Brown,Rough Guides,2014-05-01 The new Rough Guide to Barcelona is the ultimate all round guidebook to one of Europe's most vibrant exciting and stylish cities In full colour throughout with dozens of colour photos this guide not only gives you the finest coverage of Barcelona's historical sights and famous architecture including the magnificent Gaudí creations like the Sagrada Família but also has a keen eye for
