First Responder Trauma Recovery Guide and Workbook (First Edition) Kevin William Grant, 2021-07-14 Stress anxiety depression trauma post traumatic stress disorder PTSD bullying and burnout have all become accepted realities for first responders in the modern workplace This workbook unpacks contemporary workplace realities educates you about trauma and helps you build your personalized recovery plan for transformation recovery and healing This recovery program has eight core purposes Validate your current situation This recovery program begins by validating your experiences and breaking through any denial you may be experiencing by examining all the ways you could be traumatized at work Identify your realities Once you understand how you've been traumatized you'll learn about how trauma develops and how to break through the defenses that protect you from the painful experiences you're facing Understand workplace trauma Armed with a deeper understanding of what trauma is how it develops and how you react to trauma you will be able to identify the support you'll need to heal and recover Build your recovery team and develop your action plan Useful tools and techniques will help you connect with and build your team of support professionals and advocates Once you begin working with your team you'll start the recovery process by acquiring a set of skills and techniques to help you weather the storm and begin healing Grieve mourn and let go Recovery will take you on a journey of grieving mourning and letting go which will transport you to a new sense of calm and acceptance I'll break down this journey into the stages you'll travel through to get to the other side Maintain your recovery Finally I'll share helpful ways to maintain your recovery manage setbacks with compassion and track your progress so you can proactively navigate the inevitably choppy waters as you continue your healthy and productive recovery Adapt and adjust to the impacts of the COVID 19 Pandemic The COVID 19 global Pandemic has left a lasting impact on all our lives This section will review the Pandemic's mental health physical health and social implications with helpful tools and techniques to help you manage the trauma and stress the Pandemic brings In addition gems of wisdom and learnings within the research literature will help you navigate the Pandemic and Post Pandemic worlds effectively Learn interactively with workbook exercises Workbook exercises will help you digest the content reflect on your situation learn from that reflection and incrementally create a personalized recovery plan Each exercise in the workbook walks you through a process of self reflection and self discovery to help you understand and make sense of your situation First Responder Careers Expose Individuals to Higher Risks of Developing Trauma Some careers include a higher likelihood of experiencing traumatic events that can lead to the development of PTSD Serving in the military is a high risk factor for developing PTSD However combat veterans develop PTSD at different rates depending on the severity and length of exposure to traumatic experiences There are also high incidences of reported sexual harassment and sexual abuse in the military As a result the rates of PTSD are relatively high compared to the overall prevalence in the general population Not only can law enforcement officers experience direct threats and stressful conditions but they also regularly witness the devastating effects of assaults robberies kidnappings and violent events However individuals in this profession have lower than expected rates of PTSD surprisingly An estimated 20 percent overall may result from having access to counseling and rigorous pre employment screenings EMTs and paramedics are routinely exposed to life threatening incidents and have more health problems than individuals in other occupations PTSD rates in this group are as high as 20 percent PTSD prevalence in this profession is comparable to law enforcement Firefighters conduct paramedic activities and are the first responders to natural disasters Firefighting is a dangerous profession that exposes workers to stressful conditions and traumatic events ranging from threats to their safety and experiencing the devastating effects of catastrophes As a result the prevalence of PTSD in this group can be as high as 20 percent Volunteer firefighters may have even higher rates because they don't have access to the same level of support as career firefighters Healthcare workers especially those working in emergency rooms and intensive care units are also at higher risk For example nurses working in critical care units are more likely to develop PTSD than nurses in other groups In addition while senior level nurses report fewer PTSD symptoms than junior ones they report higher rates of burnout Finally healthcare workers exposed to patients that have experienced violence such as an assault victim are more likely to develop PTSD than surgeons who treat assault victims Rescue workers medical workers and volunteers who act as first responders during disasters witness the aftermath of horrific events and can even become involved in severe traumatic events The prevalence of PTSD in these individuals has been estimated to be between 15 and 30 percent Journalists who work as war correspondents are at higher risk of being injured killed or kidnapped Their lifetime prevalence of PTSD which can be as high as 30 percent reflects their lack of access to support and PTSD treatment options Transit and train operators are frequently exposed to physical threats and witness suicide incidents such as person under train events Exposure to these traumatic and threatening circumstances can be a daily or weekly occurrence Bus drivers are more prone to PTSD because they have more direct contact with the general public than train drivers locked in secure train cabs In these high risk professions the incidence of trauma declines when policies are in place to debrief victims give victims immediate access to counseling and screen for individuals at high risk of having adverse reactions to traumatic conditions

Schmelzer, PhD,2018-02-06 For survivors of PTSD and repeated relational trauma and the people who love them Gretchen Schmelzer watched too many people quit during treatment for trauma recovery They found it too difficult or too frightening or just decided that for them it was too late But as a therapist and trauma survivor herself Dr Schmelzer wants us to know that it is never too late to heal from trauma whether it is the suffering caused within an abusive relationship or PTSD resulting from combat Sometimes what feels like a big setback is actually an unexpected difficult step forward So she wrote Journey Through Trauma specifically for survivors to help them understand the terrain of the healing process and stay on the path There are three basic principles that every trauma survivor should know Healing is possible It requires courage And it cannot be done alone Traumas that happen more than once child abuse sexual abuse domestic violence gang violence even war are all relational traumas They happened inside a relationship and therefore must be healed inside a relationship whether that relationship is with a therapist or within a group Journey Through Trauma gives us a map to help guide us through that healing process see where the hard parts show up and persevere in the process of getting well We learn the five phases that every survivor must negotiate along the way and come to understand that since the cycle of healing is not linear circling back around to a previous stage does not mean defeat it actually means progress as well as facing new challenges Authoritative and accessible Journey Through Trauma provides support for survivors and their loved ones through one of the most challenging but necessary processes of healing that anyone can face From Trauma to Healing Ann Goelitz,Abigail Stewart-Kahn,2013 From Trauma to Healing A Social Worker s Guide for Working With Survivors is the next significant publication on trauma in the field of social work Since September 11 and Hurricane Katrina social workers have come together increasingly to consider how traumatic events impact practice From Trauma to Healing is designed to provide direction in this process supporting both the field s movement towards evidence based practice and social workers growing need to be equipped to work with trauma It does so in the practical guide format already proven to be compelling to social work students educators and practitioners providing case examples and addressing social workers unique ecological

Education Alex Shevrin Venet, 2023-09-01 Educators must both respond to the impact of trauma and prevent trauma at school Trauma informed initiatives tend to focus on the challenging behaviors of students and ascribe them to circumstances that students are facing outside of school This approach ignores the reality that inequity itself causes trauma and that schools often heighten inequities when implementing trauma informed practices that are not based in educational equity In this fresh look at trauma informed practice Alex Shevrin Venet urges educators to shift equity to the center as they consider policies and professional development Using a framework of six principles for equity centered trauma informed education Venet offers practical action steps that teachers and school leaders can take from any starting point using the resources and influence at their disposal to make shifts in practice pedagogy and policy Overthrowing inequitable systems is a process not an overnight change But transformation is possible when educators work together and teachers can do more than they realize from within their own classrooms Healing from Trauma Jasmin Lee Cori, 2007 For survivors rather than
